Monroe J. Stavely Is New Postmaster At Littlestown

Littlestown changed postmasters Friday when Monroe J. Stavely succeeded Clarence J. Schwartz who served as postmaster for 24 years.

The retiring postmaster, born in Littlestown April 9, 1902, served with the Littlestown State Bank from 1926 to 1933 as assistant cashier, and then was employed at the Littlestown National Bank from 1934 to 1940, when he was appointed on March 6, 1940, as postmaster, succeeding Lawrence B. Fink. Mr. Schwartz was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and James A. Farley was the postmaster general.

During his term, the post office advanced from second class with annual gross receipts of $17,000 to first class in 1963 with receipts of $67,000.

BEGAN CITY DELIVERY

The office was moved into its present building at 24 W. King St. in 1956. The structure, built by the late John L. Redding, is currently owned by Mrs. Redding.

City delivery for Littlestown began in 1941, shortly after Mr. Schwartz became postmaster. Motor vehicle parcel post delivery was also instituted in 1941.

Personnel of the post office includes the postmaster, Assistant Postmaster S. Clair Trostle, one regular and one substitute clerk, two regular and one substitute city carriers, two regular and two substitute rural carriers.

Transfer of the post office from Retiring Postmaster Schwartz to Mr. Stavely, who was clerk at the post office, was made by Postal Inspectors C. R. Murry and T. R. Richards.

The retiring postmaster is a graduate of Littlestown area rural schools, Gettysburg Academy and Thompson Business College.

WAS SUB CARRIER

The new postmaster was born in Littlestown in 1912 and graduated from Littlestown High School in 1931. He was appointed substitute town carrier for the Littlestown post office in 1937 and became clerk at the post office in 1942.

He enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps in September, 1943, and upon completion of his basic training, was assigned to the postal service of the Marine Corps and sent to the Pacific Theater of Operation. After his discharge from the Marines in April, 1946, he was reassigned as clerk in the Littlestown post office and has served in that capacity since.

Active in community and fraternal work in Littlestown, he is a member of Redeemer's United Church of Christ, a member and past president of Alpha Fire Co., a member of the Littlestown Lions Club, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Elks, Moose and the Littlestown Eagles of which he has been secretary for 15 years.

DAR TO FURNISH PERIOD ROOM AT OLD DORM

Plans for the furnishing of a DAR room at the "Old Dorm" on the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary campus and for the 60th anniversary luncheon to be held by the organization November 7 at Hunterstown, were among the business matters before the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Friday afternoon at the Seminary "Old Dorm."

Mrs. Austin H. Fellenbaum, of the faculty of Gettysburg College, was the featured speaker at the meeting, giving a preview of recent books which she recommended as "worthy of reading" or to be given as gifts to friends.

A request was made for donations of Revolutionary period furniture and other articles of the Revolutionary era to be placed in the DAR room at the Old Dorm. The Adams County Historical Society is establishing various rooms in the old dormitory, in keeping with periods of the county's history, so that when the work is completed the building will be a museum of Adams County and of national history. The DAR is engaged in establishing the room relating to Revolutionary days. Mrs. Clair B. Sweney, Baltimore St., is chairman for the committee in charge of the room.

The Rev. August Wessels, Carlisle, will be the guest preacher at the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown at the 11:15 service Sunday morning when World-wide communion will be observed.

BLAME CAMDEN TRUCK DRIVER FOR DEATH OF JACOB EMLET

An Adams County coroner's jury Friday afternoon placed the entire blame for an accident near York Springs June 14 which caused the death of Jacob Eugene Emlet, 47, York Springs, on the driver of a tractor-trailer, Herman Elgasser Jr., 35, Camden, N. J.

After hearing testimony, the jury returned with a verdict finding that Emlet came to his death as a result of a fractured skull and internal injuries caused by his car "being struck by a tractor-trailer operated by Herman Elgasser Jr." and then added: "The jury can find no reason for the accident other than negligence on the part of Mr. Elgasser."

After the accident police had filed an involuntary manslaughter charge against Elgasser. He also was charged with driving after suspension of his operating privileges and failure to furnish proof of financial responsibility.

WOMAN FATALLY HURT

The inquest testimony showed Elgasser was driving north in a tractor-trailer which collided with a car owned by the Paul Wolf garage at York Springs, smashed it flat, fatally injured Mr. Emlet, then crashed into the rear of a car owned by John Beistline, Steelton, and drove it some distance before the vehicles came to rest. The testimony also showed that after the Wolf garage car was struck, it went up on an embankment, came back down, scraping the side of the trailer, and finally came to rest again on the berm.

Witnesses heard by the jury included State Policeman Kenneth E. Stump; John Beistline, 38, Steelton, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Raymond Myers, also of Steelton.

Mrs. John Beistline was fatally injured in the accident, dying the day following the crash at the Harrisburg Hospital. The Adams County coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, told the jury when it retired to consider its verdict that it should not concern itself in its verdict with Mrs. Beistline because her death occurred in Dauphin County "and is properly a Dauphin County matter. Your verdict should be on Mr. Emlet alone."

RAN OUT OF GAS

The story told by the Steelton residents showed Mrs. Beistline and Mrs. Myers were twin sisters. They and their husbands had been to Williamsburg, Va., and were enroute home to Steelton about 5 o'clock on the evening of June 14 when the engine of Beistline's car sputtered and stopped. Beistline coasted the auto off the four-lane Harrisburg Road a mile north of York Springs onto the berm, "getting as far off as I could."

Believing the car might be out of gas, Beistline and Myers decided to walk to the Wolf garage a mile away. They said they particularly checked the position of their vehicle before they left, because their two wives were remaining there, and, finding the car entirely off the highway, started toward York Springs. Two youths gave them a ride to the garage, and there Mr. Emlet filled a can with gasoline and using one of the Wolf Garage cars, drove them back to their vehicle, parking the garage car about 10 feet behind the Beistline car.

SUDDEN TRAGEDY

The two Steelton men agreed the Emlet car was off the highway but may have had possibly a little of the left rear wheel on the roadway. Emlet put the gasoline in the Beistline car, waited until Mr. Beistline started the engine of his vehicle, and then started to walk back toward his auto. That was the last any of the Steelton people saw of him.

Beistline decided to wait a few moments until Emlet had driven away. He commented to myers that they would be home in an hour. Myers glanced at his watch.

Beistline's next recollection was that he was flat on his back behind his car, a truck was "overhead." Men were working in wreckage to free someone, who, he realized suddenly, must be his wife. His next recollections were confused and hazy until a month later when he recovered consciousness fully at the Harrisburg Hospital, from which he was recently discharged.

TELL OF RECOLLECTIONS

Myers' first recollection after looking at his watch was of Beistline pushed up over the steering wheel of the car, his (Myers') wife partially across the front seat and a voice saying: "We'll have to get a crow-

U.S. Abruptly Ends Spy Trial Of A Mysterious Russian Couple Citing "Interest Of National Security"

NEW YORK (AP)—The Justice Department "in the interest of national security" has abruptly ended the spy trial of a mysterious Russian couple, presumably to protect U.S. counterspy secrets.

The dramatic development came Friday in the fifth day of the trial in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn. The jury had just been completed. U.S. Atty. John P. Hoey was about to make his opening statement.

Instead, acting on telephoned instructions from Washington, Hoey asked that the indictments against Alexandre Sokolov, 40, and his 34-year-old wife, be dismissed. The courtroom was stunned.

QUICK EMBRACE

Sokolov and his wife had time only for a quick embrace and a kiss. As they left the courtroom immigration officials seized them. They now face deportation proceedings.

Sources in Washington said the dismissal had no connection with diplomatic pressure or foreign relations.

Although the Justice Department had no comment on the development, it was felt in high government circles that had the trial continued future counterespionage activities of the U.S. government would be hindered.

WITNESS RISK

Sources said that continuation of the trial carried the risk of involving additional witnesses whose appearances hadn't been planned in advance by the government.

One knowledgeable government source, when asked if someone had "goofed," conceded "you might say that."

Federal Judge John F. Dooling and the court-appointed attorney for the defendants praised the government's decision to drop its case.

On dismissing the indictment, Judge Dooling noted the constitutional requirement that a defendant be confronted by those leveling charges against him.

SIX-YEAR PLOT

"We can take pride in the majesty of the spirit that disdains to deviate one iota from principle in order to attain a particular objective," he said.

The couple was accused of a six-year plot to send to Moscow secret data on American rocket-launching sites and atomic arms shipments. They were arrested July 2, 1963 in a Washington apartment, which the government said contained a powerful short - wave radio, codes and ciphers, and recordd ing and photographic apparatus.

On the same day, U.S. agents arrested Ivan D. Egorov, a Russian U.N. personnel officer, and his wife, Aleksandra, in

Rip-Roaring Hurricane Is Racing Headlong Toward Louisiana; Is Due At Noon

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Erratic Hurricane Hilda drove relentlessly toward this carnival city of 700,000 persons today as her winds lashed the deserted, defenseless coastal region to the south.

Forecasters said Hilda's giant eye — that deadly calm center about which winds at 120 miles an hou swirled — would slam into the Louisiana coast about noon between Morgan City and Grand Isle.

Raging tides, torrential rains and shrieking winds already battered the Gulf Coast area, scene of a mass exodus unmatched in Louisiana history. More than 125,000 persons waited out the storm at inland shelters.

COVERS WIDE AREA

Hilda, its hurricane winds extending over an area larger than all New England, teased southwest Louisiana's storm-conscious coast for two days before turning northeast Friday night toward New Orleans.

A tornado peeled away from the storm's advance winds and skipped through the southern edge of Golden Meadow, some 30 air miles below here. There were no casualties because of hurricane evacuation. The twister felled power lines and did extensive damage to empty homes. Normally gay New Orleans quickly took on a somber air as Hilda slowly turned toward the city. New Orleans, caught below sea level between the Mississippi River and Lake Pontchartrain, feared flooding more than Hilda's super winds.

SET UP WARNINGS

Red and black hurricane flags went up from the mouth of the Mississippi River eastward to Mobile Bay as Hilda approached land. At the same time the hurricane watch along

YOUTHS FREED ON COURT RULE

HARRISBURG (AP) — A recent U.S. Supreme Court decision has erased murder indictments against two Harrisburg youths charged in the beating death of Paul Gundrum, 66.

Judge Homer K. Kreider of Dauphin County Court Friday, dismissed the murder indictment against Ronald Dunbar, 14, a day after he had taken similar action in the case of Jerry Joseph Cofield, 15.

In both instances, Judge Kreider pointed to a 5-4 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court which held that a person charged with a felony must be allowed to consult a lawyer before giving a statement to police.

Counsel for the two boys told the court that this was not done.

Assistant Dist. Atty. George W. Gekas, who moved for the Dunbar dismissal, said "it would be brought to trial in January on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Cofield pleaded guilty to an involuntary manslaughter charge and was sentenced to three years imprisonment.

bar to get the door open." He again lost consciousness. Mrs. Myers dimly recalled someone "at the time I didn't know whether it was me or my sister," saying:

"Help me . . . my legs . . . "

Trooper Stump told of arriving at the scene. He said debris and marks on the highway and berm indicated where the accident had occurred. Eighty-eight feet farther north were the remains of Emlet's smashed down car and 175 feet farther north the front of a tractor-trailer was smashed down on the rear of the Beistline car. Emlet's body was lying on the berm near his smashed auto. Mrs. Beistline was still trapped in the rear of the Beistline car, under the section smashed down by the trailer.

Trooper Stump read a statement which he said Elgasser made at the scene and later repudiated. The statement alleged that Elgasser started from North Carolina at 6 o'clock on the evening of June 13 with a load of 343 100-pound bags of potatoes in the trailer. Various stops were made and at Stoney Creek, Va., he slept for five hours. At Point of Rocks at 11 o'clock on the morning of the accident he changed a tire, found a broken air line to one of the wheels. He plugged that air line so it would not affect the brakes on the other wheels.

"BLINDED BY SUN"

According to the statement, Elgasser said he was blinded by sunlight and when he was able to see again found the two vehicles "halted in his lane of traffic" and he had no time to swerve to pass them. He said he was driving at 55 to 60 miles an hour at the time.

The officer said chemical analysis showed Elgasser had sometime previously taken a drug to keep awake.

The officer testified the road at the scene is level, four-lane and straight for a distance of a quarter mile south of the scene of the accident and then makes a slight curve. He said the accident occurred on the berm of the highway, rather than on the concrete lane.

DOES NOT TESTIFY

Photographer C. Robert Ziegler showed pictures taken at the scene. Elgasser, who was represent at the inquest by Attory S. M. Raffensperger, did not testify.

The jury hearing the inquest included G. Henry Roth, Harold Ecker, Mrs. Ethel Crist, Francis Ignatius Linn, Lloyd Palmer and Curvin Krout.

Names Of Those Indicted In Murder Of 3 Rightists Is Secret Until Arrested

By MIKE SMITH

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — This rural area watached tensely today to see who had been indicted in the case of the three murdered civil rights workers.

Two indictments were handed down Friday by the federal grand jury in Biloxi. Pending arrests, the indictments and the number of men involved remained secret.

Presumably, the charges deal with civil rights violations. Murder is a state charge, not federal.

125 ARE HEARD

The 23-member grand jury heard about 125 witnesses during two weeks of secret sessions. The jurors included a Negro woman.

The indictments climaxed one of the most intensive investigations in FBI history. President Johnson took a personal interest in the case.

After the jury's report in Biloxi, the sealed papers were taken to Meridian — near Phila delphia—where warrants would be sworn under normal procedure.

OTHER JURIES FAIL

A Neshoba County grand jury that convened to consider the case adjourned last Wednesday without issuing any indictments.

The state grand jury, which could return murder indictments, complained that the FBI had not cooperated.

The victims—James Chaney, 21, a Negro from Meridian, Miss., and two white men, Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michae Schwerner, 24, both of New York—vanished while investigating the burning of a Negro church near this central Mississippi town.

The dead were found Aug. 4 when an informer pinpointed the location. Then the FBI moved in with a tractor and a dragline. The bodies were dug out of a new watershed dam.

Two More Nations Pay Their U.N. Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Two more countries in the United Nations have paid up back dues and escaped loss of their votes in the General Assembly.

Haiti turned over $43,848 arrears for regular budget assessments Friday, joining Argentina which earlier contributed $214,372 toward the budget and the Congo peace- keeping operation.

Still behind are Bolivia, Paraguay, Yemen and seven Communist nations, including the Soviet Union. They are on a list of countries two years behind and subject to losing their votes.

"THE LORD"

The Lord is my salvation . . . in Him I place my trust . . . I turn to Him for comfort . . . for He is good and just . . . the Lord is my companion . . . every step of the way . . . and we converse together . . . each time I pause to pray . . . I tell Him of my troubles . . . He answers me with hope . . . through His deep compassion . . . I scale the rugged slope . . . the Lord is kind and tender . . . He shows me how to live . . . He says be understanding . . . and willing to forgive . . . because of Him I'm equal . . . to what comes along . . . He gives me strength to journey . . . with light heart and a song . . . the Lord is mankind's truest Friend . . . I'm thankful I can share . . . the countless blessings He affords . . . to those who seek His care.

member of the Commission on Imperatves in Education and as a trustee of the National Joint Committe on Economic Education.

He has been the recipient of many honors the most recent of which was presented to him Thursday at the Education Congress in Harrisburg by Dr. George W. Hoffman, acting superintendent of public instruction for Pennsylvania. The citation, signed by Governor Scranton and Dr. Hoffman, was given "in recognition of outstanding service to education in Pennsylvania."

The concluding address Monday afternoon will be by the Rev. Herbert Harrison, once "man of the year" in Olean, N. Y., and now pastor of the historic Asbury Delaware Methodist Church in Buffalo. His topic will be "Today's Keys for Tomorrow's Doors."

Bible Church To Hold Rally Day

Rally Day will be held Sunday at 9:45 a.m. at the Gettysburg Bible Church on the Harrisburg Rd. Guest speaker will be Tom Bisset of the River Valley Ranch who will present a program with special music. River Valley Ranch, in Maryland, is conducted by Christians to reach young people with the gospel. Louis Baral, R. 4, the Sunday School superintendent, has announced that the adult and the child bringing the most visitors will receive an award. The largest family present will also receive a prize. The public is invited.

Praise Officials In Negro Rioting

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor James H. J. Tate, Dist. Atty. James C. Crumlish, police, firemen and religious leaders have all drawn praise from the September grand jury for their handling of Negro rioting and looting in North Philadelphia Aug. 28-29.

The grand jury, in its concluding report Friday, made the commendations for the efforts which, the jury said, "unbelievably brought this situation under control within a few hours."

The jury said it considered 2,094 charges and returned 1,979 indictments, including many which arose from the rioting.

35 Cars Derailed Near Susquehanna

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa. (AP)—Track crews worked today to clear away the wreckage of a 35-car freight train derailment which blocked a single track of the Delaware and Hudson line.

The derailment of the cars, in the middle of a 65-car D & H freight train Friday, tore up hundreds of feet of track on "Schoolhouse Curve," at Windsor, N.Y., some five miles north of here.

There were no injuries. Authorities did not immediately know the cause of the mishap.

The train had been headed from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to Oneonta, N.Y.

Bronze Sculpture Is Called Obscene

GOETTINGEN, Germany (AP) — The installation of a 1.5-ton bronze sculpture in Goettingen's new City Hall raised a furor in this university town.

The work titled "The City," was created by Prof. Juergen Weber. In his attempt to capture every facet of life, the relief even goes into the personal relations of man and wife.

Soon after its unveiling dozens of letters started pouring into the local newspaper. They demanded removal of the relief. A theology student even filed a complaint with the police under a section of the German Criminal Code which forbids exhibition of obscene art.

MOUNTIES TO GUARD QUEEN IN CANADA

OTTAWA (AP) — The Royal Canadian Mounties have assembled a formidable security task force to afford land, sea and underwater protection for Queen Elizabeth II during her eight-day visit to Canada.

Of particular concern has been the past violence associated with separatist groups in heavily French Quebec Province. Terrorist groups there reportedly have been instructed how to touch off riots during the queen's visit, which starts Monday.

In response to the reports, however, Justice Minister Guy Favreau told the House of Commons Friday "The safety of the queen is completely assured. All necessary measures have been taken and are being taken."

ARE CONFIDENT

British government sources in London expressed confidence that Canada was taking all necessary precautions.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will fly to the Royal Canadian Air Force Base on Prince Edward Island and spend Monday night in the Britannia, the royal yacht anchored off Summerside.

The tour, the queen's eighth commonwealth trip, begins officially Tuesday with the opening in Charlottetown of the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building.

SAIL TO QUEBEC

On Wednesday the royal party will sail aboard the Britannia up the St. Lawrence River, arriving at Quebec City Oct. 10. There the queen will address a ceremony commemorating the 1864 meetings in Quebec of the fathers of the confederation.

Queen Elizabeth, who speaks French fluently, is expected to make her Quebec speeches in French because of language issues involved in the separatist movement.

The queen will fly to Ottawa Oct. 11 and leave there by air on Oct. 13 for London.

Wagers $140,000 On Labor Party Victory

LONDON (AP) — Real estate magnate Maxwell Joseph has bet $140,000 that the Labor party will win Britain's national election Oct. 15. But he hopes the Laborites lose.

"I did it more or less as a hedge to the deterioration of my assets should Labor get in," said Joseph who owns more than 20 hotels, a nationwide chain of movie houses, a bank and a string of stores, apartment houses and service stations.

MANY HURT IN IRISH RIOTS; 30 ARRESTED

By COLIN FROST

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police held 30 Irish nationalists today after the third straight night of pre-election rioting in which scores were injured.

The fighting flared again Friday night in a revival of an old and bitter feud after officers had removed the Irish Republic's flag, outlawed in the six-counties of Northern Ireland.

Aroused Repubiicans demanding union with Ireland's 26 counties to the south are running candidates for 10 seats in the House of Commons in the election Oct. 15.

Despite appeals for calm, the rioting took an ugly turn. Violence swept downtown Belfast, where Roman Catholic nationalist sentiment is strong.

RUNNING BATTLES

Demonstrators, engaging in a series of running battles with hundreds of policemen, hurled Molotov cocktails at armored cars and set a drug store afire. Flying rocks and bottles filled the air, shattering shop windows.

The deep political-religious antagonism has been a source of constant friction in Britain's history. It has often led to violence in Northern Ireland, but the latest outbreak is the worst in recent years since the Irish state formally severed its Commonwealth ties in 1949, maintaining Northern Ireland belongs with it.

The government outlawed the Irish Republican Army. Flying of the republic's flag has led to previous violence, although the issue had not stirred trouble lately until this week.

Three Robberies Are Being Probed

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—Authorities are investigating three burglaries reported Friday in Wayne and Pike Counties.

State police said burglars made off with about $400 in coins from the Wallenpaupack branch of the First National Bank of Milford in Pike County, but were unable to break into the main safe.

The Gumble Brothers Lumber Yard, across the road from the bank, was also burglarized and $500 was taken from a safe.

In Wayne County, cashier C. Allen Edwards reported that burglars ransacked storage and cabinet files of the First National Bank of Newfoundland, but got no money.

Takes Part In Tank Proficiency Course

S/Sgt. Dale Hollabaugh, son of Mr and Mrs. Charles C. Hollabaugh, Biglerville R. 1, participated with other members of 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment in the recent tank proficiency course at Grafenwohr, Germany. The course consisted of firing all tank armament and in tank maneuvers.

Sergeant Hollabaugh, a member of Troop I in the 3rd Armored Calvary Regiment's 3rd Reconnaissance Squadron, entered the Army in 1955 and arrived overseas in 1961 on this tour of duty. He is a 1952 graduate of Biglerville High School.

Students Release Captives As College Promises Site For Political Activities

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A three-day student uprising at the University of California ended Friday night with the school's promise that students will be provided a site near the campus for political activities.

Announcement of the settlement came as some 500 students and as many police thronged around a campus police car held captive by students for 32½ hours.

HOLD FORMER STUDENT

Inside the car was Jack Weinberg, 24, a former graduate student taken into custody for raising funds for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), a civil rights organization.

Police allowed students to pass Weinberg sandwiches and soft drinks through a window of the police car.

The settlement between the administration and student representatives included a pledge that Weinberg would not be prosecuted for trespassing by the university as was threatened.

3,500 PARTICIPATE

The demonstration — which at times involved as many as 3,500 students — erupted Wednesday when eight students were expelled for ignoring the campus ban on political activities involving off-campus causes.

Several hundred students staged a sit-in outside the dean of students' office Wednesday to protest the expulsions. On Thursday morning Weinberg was arrested.

DEFIED POLICE

As campus police attempted to drive Weinberg away from the Administration Building — in front of which he had been soliciting funds — thousands of students gathered.

Some threw themselves in front and behind the patrol car, preventing it from moving. Others mounted the roof and hood of the captive car to make anti-administration speeches.

Later Thursday several hundred students stormed into the Administration Building. They at first repelled police efforts to evict them but later left of their own accord.

LIKE BOWLING BALL

From the Louisiana coast Hilda could roll across the marshlands like a bowling ball down an alley and into New Orleans. Once past this metropolitan city, it would hit the open waters of Lake Pontchartrain and move on to Mississippi's resort-dotted Gulf Coast.

Mississippi hastily mobilized its resources to fight the storm. National Guard jeeps went into the coastal area to speed up the evacuation.

The giant, uncompleted Mississippi test operations — the missile-test facility in Hancock County — shut down and locked its gates. Employes were told to stay away from the Hancock County facility near the Louisiana border.

Today's Talk

THE AFTERGLOW

When the last gleam of hope is gone and a man or woman enters his or last, long sleep, the voices of those who were wont to decry and criticize remain silent. The afterglow of a human being's life is the only correct criterion by which he or she can justly be appraised.

Then it is that the little kindnesses, the unrehearsed acts of generosity, and the endless, hidden services of good will and genuineness shine forth. We are all creatures of error and often thoughtless blundering. But the great and enduring in a human life at last rise to the surface, like rich cream from the body of milk.

Say what ill you wish of a man or woman while he or she lives, there are always those who will say the opposite. It all depends upon the angle from which you wish to view the work and service of a human being. Our own viewpoint may often be distorted. An enemy is a potential friend!

How we all wish that our foolish acts could only be wiped from our memory. In our mellow maturity we look back upon them and wonder at our lack of tolerance, our senselessness, or our misguided understanding. Many years ago I read the statement somewhere that when a great man dies he leaves a glow long into the night. Nature has an illustration. After many a cloud and storm day all becomes silent, the clouds break, the sun lowers, and there is an afterglow of peace and beauty.

Shakespeare's reference to the candle, throwing its tiny beams afar, may be duplicated in the invisible candle that many a one keeps forever lit in his heart, throwing its small gleam into many a life, brightening and blessing it. We all know of such human beings, and no amount of evil blowing can extinguish that ray of light.

The unselfish deeds and innate nobility of a person are what live on as the afterglow. The rest fades away, and finally is forgotten. The good that a man does keep traveling. There is no end to its destination.

AUTUMN IN THE CITIES

The leaves come drifting down
On the little streets of town,
But the roads of traffic stay
Deadly dull and ashly gray.
Little beauty is displayed
On the avenues of trade.

Autumn comes and autumn goes,
But the city pavement shows
Nothing tender, nothing strange
Of the equinoctial change.
Hard and covered is the land
Where the office buildings stand.

'Tis on little streets the trees
Sing their soothing melodies,
And the leaves of red and brown
Drift so very softly down.
'Tis the quiet haunts and small
Wear the beauties of the fall.

'Tis the home and not the mart
Where the happy memories start;
'Tis the home street knows the spring;
Knows the summer blossoming,
And the glory autumn weaves
With the falling of the leaves.

"Kind Sir" Will Play Allenberry

Bettie Endrizzi will reach another milestone in her colorful 15-year career as a member of the Allenberry Playhouse resident company when she appears on the Boiling Springs stage in "Kind Sir," opening Monday night.

It will mark her 155th role and her 2,465th appearance at the local theater when she steps into the part created on Broadway by Mary Martin and later in a movie version, "Indiscreet," by Ingrid Bergman.

Miss Endrizzi also serves as business manager at the playhouse, taking over in midsummer on the death of Mrs. Elva Derr.

Reginald Rowland Jr., another Allenberry veteran, whose career dates back to 1956, will be Bettie's romantic partner, a role handled on Broadway by Charles Boyer and later Cary Grant in the film version. It will mark Mr. Rowland's 91st role at Allenberry.

June Graham, who was starred as Myra on the TV serial, "Secret Storm," for four and one-half years, will make her Allenberry debut in the Norman Krasna comedy. Miss Graham also appeared for six years on the Studio One program. She took over as a summer replacement for Betty Furness in 1953 and remained on the show for the next six years.

Negroes Resent Hike In Prices

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — Five Negroes have asked a U.S. District Court to enjoin a Brunswick restaurant from violating customers' civil rights by imposing high prices.

The Negroes, contending that the restaurant deprived them of the full enjoyment of their civil rights, charged that the establishment had imposed the high prices when they sought service July 26.

They said they were charged the following prices for breakfast:

One scrambled egg, with ham, toast and coffee, $5.15.

Two scrambled eggs with sausage, toast and coffee, $6.22.

Ham, toast and coffee, $4.13.

Hot cakes, sausage and coffee, $4.07.

The plaintiffs also asked that they be refunded a portion of their breakfast bill.

RENEW SEARCH FOR AIRLINER; FIND 20 BODIES

CARTAGENA, Spain (AP) — An air-sea search resumed today for an Africa-bound French airliner that crashed Friday in the western Mediterranean. Reports from the scene indicated none of the 80 persons aboard survived.

Sources in the Spanish Ministry of Aviation in Madrid said the plane had plunged into the Mediterranean 45 miles south of Mazzaron, a town about 60 miles from the southeastern Spanish Mediterranean naval port of Cartagena.

ENROUTE TO AFRICA

Reports from the Civil Guard headquarters in Granada, Spain, said an unidentified British tanker had picked up 20 bodies from the sea. In addition 20 to 25 bodies were reported sighted by British air-sea rescue craft.

The propeller-driven DC6 U.T.A. (Union de Transports Aeriens) plane plunged into the Mediterranean after a predawn takeoff from Palma de Mallorca in the Balaeric Islands off Spain. The line said all those aboard the Paris-originated flight, 73 passengers and a crew of 7, were French.

The plane was bound for Nouakchott, Atlantic port capital of Mauritania in West Africa.

There was no hint of the cause of the crash.

Reds' Temper Flare After Bowing To Phils; Sisler Calls For Morning Drill

CINCINNATI (AP) — Acting Manager Dick Sisler scheduled a workout for the Reds today in the wake of a temper flareup among his players following a 4-3 defeat Friday night that deprived Cincinnati of taking over the National League lead.

A heated argument erupted among the Reds minutes after the loss to Philadelphia, but Sisler said it was "only minor difficulties."

"It was real tough to lose," he said. "Tempers are high. I like men who are so interested in their work that their tempers will fly in the heat of a pennant race," he told The Associated Press.

SEVERE JOLT

The loss was a severe jolt to Cincinnati's pennant hopes. St. Louis also lost 1-0 to the New York Mets and a victory would have put the Reds in the driver's seat for the last two days of the torrid race.

Sisler was huddled with newsmen in this office after the game when Coach Reggie Otero interrupted and summoned him outside to the Reds' dressing room. The door was locked, barring reporters from the players' quarters only several feet away.

VIOLENT ARGUING

Violent arguing and a lot of commotion, however, could be heard. Only the voices of Frank Robinson and Bob Purkey were recognizable, the latter seemingly trying to be peacemaker.

About two minutes after he left, Sisler returned. He refused to disclose the nature of the dispute and when reporters were permitted entrance to the Reds' quarters there was no evidence of a quarrel.

None of the players, however, would talk to reporters.

"It was nothing, just forget it," Sisler told reporters. "In the heat of a pennant race like this, players say things before they think."

"HAPPY TEAM"

"It is a thing that has happened before elsewhere and will happen again," Sisler added. "I went out and quieted the boys. We're a happy team and I think we still can win.

Before the incident occurred, Sisler took a swift kick at a chair upon first entering his office.

He announced he had slated a workout for this morning. Sisler would not say who his starting pitcher would be for the crucial and final game with the Phillies Sunday.

"I have made up my mind already," he said. "For a special reason I want to wait until the workout before identifying him.

PHILS ARE SET

The Phillies appeared set for elimination from the pennant race when the Reds scored once off lefty Chris Short in the first inning and added two unearned runs in the sixth for a 3-0 lead behind the fine pitching of Jim O'Toole.

But, Richie Allen tripled in the tying runs and rookie Alex Johnson singled home the winning run in a four-run eighth inning to keep the Phillies thin hopes alive.

The Phillies pulled off a triple play in the fourth inning, their third of the season, setting a National League mark and tying the major league record.

JONES BOWS TO CHUVALO

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George Chuvalo, the 27-year-old Canadian from Toronto, may fight former champion Floyd Patterson at Madison Square Garden Nov. 27 in another heavyweight elimination bout.

"We plan to offer Patterson $25,000 Monday for the bout," said Harry Markson, head of the Garden Boxing Club. "We'll see what happens then. Chuvalo said it was okay with him."

Anyone who didn't know Cassius Clay is the heavyweight champion might have thought Chuvalo won the title Friday night at the Garden when he stopped Doug Jones in 1:28 of the 11th round.

Chuvalo, who had a 27-pound pull in the weights, 211 to 184, now has won 28, lost eight with two draws. Jones, also 27 years old, has won 24, lost six with one draw. He had been ranked fourth by the World Boxing Association, Chuvalo eighth.

20,000 ARE MADE IDLE BY AUTO STRIKE

By GENE SCHROEDER

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Layoffs caused by a United Auto Workers strike against General Motors mounted to some 20,000 today as negotiaations to end the eight-day-old walkout continued at a snail's pace.

Lataest GM operations forced to cut back production were across the border in Canada.

About 4,500 GM of Canada workers were sent home from plants in Oshawa, Ont. Some 400 more were released by McKinnon industries, Ltd., a GM division which makes engine and body parts in St. Catharines and Windsor, Ont.

LACK OF SPACE

A spokesman for the company said the layoffs had been caused mainly by a lack of warehouse space to handle the growing backlog of parts and accessories for GM automobiles.

Production of the giant automaker's new 1965 models was cut off abruptly Sept. 25 when a quarter of a million UAW members went on strike at plants in 16 states.

The walkout was called because of a failure to reach agreement on noneconomic issues for a national labor contract.

Camp Hill And Warriors Meet Here Tonight

Among the wholesale postponements of scholastic football games caused by Friday's rain were those scheduled for Gettysburg and Delone Catholic High Schools.

The Gettysburg-Camp Hill game has been re-scheduled for here this evening at 8 o'clock. Both teams will be battling to get into the thick of the Blue Mountain League race. They have identical 1-1 league marks. In the event of inclement weather this evening the game would be played Tuesday evening instead of Monday. Camp Hill seniors are scheduled to visit New York City on Monday.

Delone and Lancaster Catholic also set their game back until this evening at 8 o'clock at Lancaster.

Regularly scheduled games today include St. Francis Prep at Bermudian Springs, 2 p.m.; Biglerville at Boiling Springs, 8 p.m., and Littlestown at Susquehannock, 8 p.m.

APPROVE $3.25 BILLIONS FOR FOREIGN AID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has approved spending $3.25 billion for foreign aid, just $267 million less than President Johnson asked last January.

And the final foreign aid authorization bill — passed Friday as the 88th Congress rushed toward adjournment — went through without the controversial rider on legislative apportionment which had tied up the Senate for six weeks.

Here, in brief, is the final box score on foreign aid, for the fiscal year which started July 1:

LBJ REQUESTS

Asked by President Johnson: $3.517 billion.

Ceiling authorized for aid spending: $3.507 billion.

Actual money appropriated: $3.25 billion.

The Senate had passed a mild reapportionment rider — saying that it was the "sense of Congress" that the courts go slow in ordering states to comply with a Supreme Court ruling that both houses of legislatures be apportioned according to population.

But the rider was dropped Thursday in a Senate- House conference to reconcile differences in measures passed by the two chambers.

YANKS CLINCH TIE FOR TITLE IN 5 TO 2 WIN

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Yogi Berra is making every move the right one.

The Yankees claimed a piece of the American League pennant Friday night when iceman Whitey Ford, saved by Manager Berra for the occasion, whipped Cleveland 5-2 on a fancy four-hitter.

Then, with the Chicago White Sox facing extinction in the second half of a doubleheader with Kansas City and the clubhouse champagne bubbling under cork at Yankee Stadium, Yogi sent his athletes home to bed. "Maybe we'll have a little party after the game tomorrow," he said in parting.

SOX WIN TWO

They will indeed if young Al Downing holds the fort against the Indians today in the Yankees' next-to-last game.

There was no celebration Friday night because the White Sox stayed alive and boosted their winning streak to seven by sweeping the Athletics 3-2 and 5-4. But a Yankee victory today Ior tomorrow—will end it regardless of how Chicago fares in its final pair with KC. The White Sox trail the Yanks by two games.

Ford, held out of the Wednesday - Thursday four-game set with Detroit — partly because of a tender heel, partly because of his insurance value — fell behind 2-0 after two innings and then blanked Cleveland without a hit the rest of the way, retiring the last 16 men he faced.

BREEZED TO WIN

A five-run third inning gave the 35-year-old southpaw a working margin and he breezed to his 17th season victory.

New York's tie-clinching victory knocked third-place Baltimore ou tof contention despite the Orioles' 10-4 romp over Detroit. Los Angeles nipped Minnesota 5-4 in an afternoon game. Boston and Washington were idle.

Houston trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1 and Milwaukee and Pittsburgh split a twin-bill, the Braves taking the opener 3-2 in 10 innings, the Pirates the nightcap 5-4.

BIG SKOWRON BLOW

Bill Skowron's bases-loaded single in the ninth inning completed the White Sox sweep after Juan izarro drove in two runs in the opener and posted his 19th victory.

Skowron's tie - breaking hit followed a single by Don Buford, two passed balls by A's catcher Bill Bryan and intentional walks to Floyd Robinson and Pete Ward.

Pizarro needed a four-inning relief assist from knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm in the first game after his bases-loaded single with two out in the fourth gave the Sox the lead.

Breaks Glasses; Bowls 300 Score

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Did you ever hear of a guy who broke his glasses before he went bowling and then rolled a perfect 300 game without them?

The fellow's name is Glenn Mundis, who Friday night polished off 12 strikes in a row in the first game of a three game series.

Mundis said he dropped his glasses on the floor of his cellar before he left for the bowling alley. It was his first 300 game in 18 years of bowling.

PHILS RALLY TO BEAT REDS AS CARDS BOW

By MURRAY CHASS

There's only one thing certain about the National League pennant race: It won't end today.

It may not even end Sunday.

What it could do is develop into a four-way playoff. That possibility is remote, however, since a victory by first-place St. Louis would cut Philadelphia and San Francisco loose from the chase.

Instead of becoming clearer, the race grew zanier Friday night. The Cardinals lost to the cellar-dwelling New York Mets 1-0 but retained their one-half game lead over the Cincinnati Reds, who lost to the third-place Phillies 4-3.

DOWN TO WIRE

The Reds and the Phillies have one game left, with each other Sunday. The Cardinals play the Mets twice, and the Giants take on the Cubs two more times.

A St. Louis victory today would clinch at least a tie for the Cardinals and place the pressure on Cincinnati.

The Reds apparently already were feeling the pressure after its loss to Philadelphia. A postgame argument erupted among the Cincinnati players in the dressing room, and Acting Manager Dick Sisler had to be called to quell it.

Sisler, however, termed the dispute "only minor difficulties."

"WE'LL DO IT"

St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane naturally would have preferred a victory over the lowly Mets, but he looked at the situation optimistically.

"We'll do it; we'll make it," Keane said. "It isn't at all bad. Had the Reds won it might have been critical. Now, I think we'll win it."

There were other games in the National League Friday night. Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 3-2 in 10 innings before losing 5-4 and Houston belted Los Angeles 6-1.

SNAP WIN STREAK

The Mets snapped the Cardinals' winning string at eight games behind Al Jackson's five-hit pitching. St. Louis got three of the hits in the eighth inning but failed to score. Dick Groat lined out with the bases loaded, ending the threat.

The Mets scored the only run of the game in the third inning off Bob Gibson, 18-12. George Altman singled, stole second, advanced to third on an infield out and scampered across as Ed Kranepool rapped a single to left field.

The Phillies trailed 3-0, mostly because of their sloppy fielding, when they exploded for four runs in the eighth. Jim O'Toole had pitched a three-hitter until then. Tony Taylor singled in the first run before Richie Allen lashed a two-run triple and scored on a single by Alex Johnson.

Bob Bolin, 6-9, limited the Cubs to three hits in keeping the Giants mathematically alive. Tom Haller hit a three-run homer, his fourth blast in as many games, while Willie Mays and Jim Davenport each contributed two runs batted in. Jim Hart his his 31st homer.

52,000 FANS EXPECTED AT CLASH TONIGHT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record attendance for a single game in the American Football League may be set tonight at Shea Stadium in New York where the San Diego Chargers play the New York Jets.

A turnout of 52,000, including 45,771 paid, saw the Jets beat the Denver Broncos Sept. 12 to set the current record. Tonight the Jets front office hopes for 50,000 paid.

Another standing room crowd of 40,000 is expected at Buffalo to watch the Bills battle the Oakland Raiders in the other Saturday night game scheduled. Last Saturday 40,167 saw the Bills wallop San Diego 30-3.

TIED FOR LEAD

The Boston Patriots, tied at 3-0 with Buffalo for the lead in the Eastern Division, play at Denver Sunday. The Houston Oilers are at Kansas City to round out Sunday's card.

New York, beaten by Boston last Sunday 26-10, hopes to rebound against the Chargers, hampered by injuries. Jet quarterback Dick Wood is expected to switch his tactics and throw more short passes instead of going for the long aerial with the aim of making a touchdown in a hurry.

Both the Eastern leaders, Buffalo and Boston, figure to make it four in a row. Oakland and Denver are the only winless AFL teams. Each has lost three straight although Oakland showed much improvement in leading Kansas City last week 9-7 going into the last quarter. The Chiefs pulled it out 21-9 on two touchdown passes by Len Dawson.

TOUGH CLUB

The Chiefs, on top of the Western Division at 1-1, may find Houston a tough nut to crack in their home opener at Kansas City. Houston is 2-1 for the season and was in high gear last week in drubbing Denver on George Blanda's passing and Charley Tolar's running.

In the National League, Los Angeles is at Baltimore, St. Louis at Washington, Dallas ata Cleveland, Chicago ata San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Philadelphia, Minnesota at Green Bay and New York at Detroit.

ATHLETES IN TOKYO READY FOR OLYMPICS

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO (AP) — America's whole Olympic team of 362 athletes and 127 officials was in Tokyo today, the last contingent arriving in the early morning hours and heading for Olympic Village to join the athletes gathering for the XVIII Olympad only a week away.

The official welcome for America's contingent will be Monday, Oct. 5 when the Stars and Stripes will go up at the entrance to the village. Sixty flags snapped the brisk breeze at the village gate Saturday representing countries officially checked in.

3,532 ATHLETES

As of noon today, 3,532 athletes were working out, running on Meijii Park tracks, swimming in the practice tank or hurling javelins over the tree tops.

America's three ailing stars were reported improving and their coaches felt all would be practicing by Monday. They are Rex Cawley, Pasadena, Calif., hurdler, who was troubled by a pulled muscle; John Pennel, former world record holder in the pole vault from Miami who had a sore back; and Roy Saari of Los Angeles, who wasn't swimming because of a baud cold.

Player trades between the National and American Leagues are permitted between November 21 and December 15, without waivers.

Army Faces Tough Foe In Texas Team Tonight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Army, unbeaten but unranked, takes its three platoons and a question mark into Austin, Tex. tonight in quest of the national recognition it once had as a college football power.

The question mark is Rollie Stichweh, the Army quarterback and prime mover in Coach Paul Dietzel's offense.

Stichweh was hobbling around on crutches at the first of the week suffering from an ankle injury sustained in last week's victory over Boston College. He was expected to start, even though possibly sub par, against awesome Texas, the defending national champion, unscored on in two games and currently ranked No. 1 in the nation.

HAS PROBLEM

Texas, too, had its quarterback problems, but still ranked a favorite on the basis of its grinding ball control offense and sturdy defense.

Coach Darrel Royal's No. 1 quarterbackn Jim Hudson, was a very doubtful starter, as was end Knox Nunnally. Both are suffering from knee injuries.

Two others in the top ten, No. 4 Alabama, and No. 7 Auburn, also have night games scheduled, with Auburn possibly facing the toughest test of any of the ranked teams.

FACE KENTUCKY

The Tigers, with quarterback Jimmy Sidle hampered by injuries, face Kentucky, the team that knocked off Mississippi last week in the biggest upset of the young season.

Alabama, once again sporting the offensive threat of Joe Namath, is heavily favored over Vanderbilt.

The long weekend got started Friday night with New Mexico taking Brigham Young 26-14, George Washington romping over Furman 34-14 and Cincinnati blanking Detroit 19-0 in the major games.

Central Connecticut routed Bridgewater 42-0 and Texas Southern whipped Lakeland 33-7 elsewhere.

OTHER BATTLES

A majority of the ranked teams in action during the day were scheduled in the Midwest, with Navy at Michigan in the only meeting of top ten teams.

The Middies, No. 6, had some worries about Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach, reported only partially recovered from weekend injuries, while Michigan, No. 8, hoped to further its bid as Big Ten contender.

The others included No. 2 Southern California at Michigan State, No. 3 Illinois at Northwestern and No. 5 Ohio State against Indiana in a couple of important Big Ten games, Purdue at rebuilding Notre Dame No. 9, and Washington at Iowa in one of the four regional television games.

The rest of the TV fare has Syracuse at Holy Cross, Arkansas at Texas Christian and Colorado State U. at Air Force.

One game, Duke at Tulane, was blown off the schedule by Hurricane Hilda's threat to New Orleans. It was postponed indefinitely.

Today is Saturday, Oct. 3, the 277th day of 1964, there are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November Thanksgiving Day. The date was nationally observed until President Franklin D. Roosevelt advanced it one week; he later restored it.

On this date

In 1789, President George Washington proclaimed Nov. 26 a day of general thanksgiving.

In 1876, John Hopkins University was opened in Baltimore.

In 1935, Italian forces started their invasion of Ethiopia.

In 1941, Adolf Hitler said: "Russia is already broken aand will never rise again."

In 1944, American troops cracked the Siegfried Line north of Aachen.

Ten years ago . . . the Western Allies agreed in London to integrate Germany militarily and politically with Western Europe.

Five years ago, Italian Prime Minister Antonio Segni concluded talks in Washington with President Dwight D. Eisenhower and flew to New York on his way to Italy.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) —Fire destroyed a 40-by-80 foot barn today on the farm of Hayes Keefer, St. Thomas R. 1, about five miles west of Chambersburg. No personal injury was reported, but the loss was set at over $25,000. The cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

COLTS BATTLE RAMS SUNDAY IN TOUGH TILT

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The old, old theme of an irresistable force-immovable object gets another replay Sunday in the National Football League game between Los Angeles' surprising Rams and the equally surprising Baltimore Colts.

Principals in the Pete Rozelle production will be the passing artistry of Baltimore's Johnny Unitas — irresistible in his last two outings — against the Rams' all but immovable defensive front line of Rosey Grier, Merlin Olsen, Dave Jones and Lamar Lundy.

The game, with top spot in the Western Conference at stake, heads a busy Sunday schedule for the NFL with all 14 teams in action. The others are St. Louis at Washington, Dallas at Cleveland, Chicago at San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Philadelphia, Minnesota at Green Bay and New York at Detroit.

The American Football League opens weekend activity with two Saturday games, San Diego at New York and Oakland at Buffalo. The Sunday AFL schedule has Houston at Kansas City and Boston at Denver.

HUMBLE BEARS

Unitas, long one of the most feared passers in the league, destroyed Chicago's vaunted defenses with his passing last Sunday in a 52-0 rout of the defending league champions. The Colts also got some good running from rookies Tony Lorick and Joe Don Looney in a well-balanced attack.

Against them will come the team that leads the league in defense. The fierce rush put on by Olsen, Grier, Lundy and Jones has gotten to opposing passers 14 times this season and has helped rush the opposition into hurried passes that have been intercepted eight times.

Los Angeles, with a 2-0-1 mark, can retain first place in the West by winning. Baltimore, now 2-1, could take the top spot with a victory, but may have to share it with Green Bay.

The Packers, fresh from a tough 14-10 decision over Detroit, are at home to Minnesota's battered Vikings. The Vikings' injured list includes hard-running halfback Tommy Mason.

Cleveland and St. Louis, sharing the lead in the East, are solid favorites in their games. The Cards once again have John David Crow heavy running duty against winless Washington, while Cleveland has Jimmy Brown to throw at the Cowboys. Dallas is hurting with Don Meredith at less than 100 per cent capabilities.

BEARS ARE HURT

Chicago has Larry Morris still out of action and Mike Pyle, Ed O'Bradovich, Bill George and Joe Fortunato still aching from the mauling administered by Baltimore last week. San Francisco will be without the services of fullback J. D. Smith.

The Detroit-New York affair shapes up as a defensive battle. Neither has been impressive on offense. The Giants have Y. A. Tittle ready to go, even though the old quarterback is still suffering from bruised ribs.

Philadelphia's new-look Eagles will try to square their record against favorite foe Pittsburgh, but Joe Kuharich has question marks on the status of injuries to Earl Gros, Bob Brown and Ray Poage.

Herman Is Given 2-Year Contract

BOSTON (AP) — Billy Herman, newly named Boston Red Sox manager, was given a two-year contract Friday for an undisclosed salary estimated at $25,000 — at the same time General Manager Mike Higgins announced Johnny Pesky had been fired.

Herman was to be in charge when the floundering Red Sox met Washington today.

The task for the one-time National League second base great is a monumental one. He has to try to make a pennant contender out of an outfit which is finishing deep in the second division for the sixth year in a row.

FOG CAUSES CRASH

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa. (AP) —State police say fog and rain apparently caused an auto accident which killed Theodora Kelley of Glen Moor Friday night. Her husband, McClure Kelley, 66, the driver, was injured when their car ran off Legislative Route 15148 some 10 miles north of here and hit an embankment. He was treated and released at Coatesville Hospital.

County Agent Gives Tips On Fire Prevention Steps That Farmers Should Take

THOMAS E. PIPER
County Farm Agent

The best time to think about fire on your farm is before it happens.

Thomar E. Piper

Those who do give it some thought beforehand are least likely to have a fire. October 4 to 10 is Fire Prevention Week. Consider the following points and prevent fire:

Know how to call the fire department; post your fire department number and exchange at the telephone. Check condition of heating equipment including chimneys and flues. Make all repairs necessary for safe operation. Check electric wiring for wear and loads—replace worn and inadequate wiring; use only 15-ampere fuses unless a circuit has been specially designed for larger loads.

Your fire fighting tools should be easily accessible in an emergency. Have ladders always ready for escape and fighting roof fires.

Have the right extinguishers in the right place. Check them frequently and recharge; protect from freezing where necessary.

Always keep cistern (and stock pond) safely full for fire fighting. Make sure water supplies are accessible.

MUST HAVE WATER

Established plants along with those planted this year may suffer seriously from lack of moisture. This is because rainfall has been below normal in Adams County.

Watering is important if plants are to survive. Excessive watering can be harmful, causing a reduction in plant hardiness.

When watering, use a sprinkler, garden hose, or soaker-hose. Water supplied should penetrate the soil to a depth of and slightly below the actual depth of the plant's root system being watered.

It may take two or three hours' steady soaking to water a five- to six-inch shade tree, or five to ten minutes may be necessary for a shallow-rooted small plant.

MULCHING DEPARTMENT

Watering evergreens is important NOW before cold freezing weather. These include both the narrow-leaved types like yews or arborvitaes as well as broad-leaved types like Japanese hollies, rhododendron, and mountain laurel. A good watering every 10 days or two weeks is better than sprinkling the soil surface each day.

Muching is important, too. It helps hold moisture around ornamental plantings. The use of well-decomposed hardwood sawdust, peat humus, peat moss, buckwheat and cocoa hulls, coarsely ground corncobs, wood chips or any of these mulch types, applied properly, helps maintain moisture.

Lack of water could cause your plants to die in 1965. Protect your investment with the care that is necessary.

CURE ONIONS

It's important to properly cure onions if they are to be stored later in the fall before cold weather. Onions grown from sets don't keep well in storage. Onions grown from seed or plants, started during early spring and planted in the field or garden should keep well if properly matured and dried.

Here are some helpful hints:

When most of the stalks fall over, pull the plants and place them in windows in the sun for a day or two. Don't leave longer than two days if the sun is very warm.

When the tops become dry, cut them off with scissors or a knife, leaving stems about an inch long attached to onions. Place in open mesh bags or in slatted crates and leave in the open, cover so that they do not become unduly wet during rains.

As freezing weather approaches remove bags or containers to storage or if grown in a home garden they may be taken into the home attic, where they will keep until January, February or even later under good storage conditions. Cover onions stored in the attic during extremely cold weather to prevent freezing.

Onions and garlic are the only vegetables that require cool, dry storage conditions.

POTENTATE TO VISIT ZEMBO

Zembo Temple, Harrisburg, will ho'd its first Ladies' Night of the fall season on Saturday, Oct. 10.

Potentate J. Edwin Weigle has announced the visitation of O. Carlyle Brock II, the newly elected imperial potentate of the Shrine for North America.

Brock is known as a world traveler, explorer and sportsman. He is a soldier, a scholar, a naturalist, a writer and lecturer.

He is president, treasurer and general manager of Sanitary Farms Dairy, and chairman of the board and treasurer, Gem City Dairy, of Erie, Pa. He is also chairman of the board and treasurer, Fenton Dairy of Titusville, and a director of the Nog Chocolate Company of Dunkirk, N. Y. He owns Brookvale Farms in Glen Sutton, Quebec, Canada.

Both he and Mrs. Brock are communicants of the Cathedral of St. Paul in Erie, Pa., and the Church of the Good Shepherd in Glen Sutton, Quebec.

RED CHINA DEFIANT ON ANNIVERSAARY

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China celebrated its 15th birthday Thursday with the defiant cry that "revolution is the locomotive of history." It apparently did not choose to mark the occasion by touching off an atom bomb.

Peking's Mayor Peng Chen sounded the revolutionary keynote, reiterating the tough policy which Moscow deplores, before thousands of Chinese and foreign dignitaries massed in the Square of Celestial Peace in the Chinese capital.

BOMB IGNORED

Though there had been lively speculation that the Chinese might cap the day's festivities with an announcement that they had fired their first nuclear device, neither Peng nor President Liu Shao-chi even mentioned the word nuclear in anniversary addresses.

The subject also was avoided in lengthy anniversary editorials in the official Peking People's Daily and the theoretical party journal Red lag.

Japanese correspondents in Peking reported that informed Chinese sources said U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk's statement that Red China may explode a nuclear device soon was a "fabrication."

BLAST DATE UNKNOWN

"No one," the Chinese sources said, "not even Chairman Mao Tze-tung or President Liu Shao-chi, knows when Communist China will explode a nuclear device."

"The oppressed peoples are bound to rise in revolution, the imperialists and all the reactionaries will inevitably perish and the world is sure to march forward," Mayor Peng shouted in the day's major speech before 500,000 paraders began moving through the square.

"This is the law of historical development, which no one can alter. The people of the whole world should unite and persevere in struggle; our prospects are infinitely bright."

Peng said "this will be a year of pretty good harvests in China's history."

He called on Communists everywhere to unite against "United States imperialism" which he said "is plundering not only the economically backward countries in Asia, Africa and Latin American but also the economically developed capitalist countries, its partners included."

FARM CALENDAR

Always Label Poisons and Explosives — Keep them away from children. It may be safer to destroy the little that is left around than to run risk of children or animals getting to them before they are needed next season.

Make Compost — Collect falling leaves of shade trees and shrubs and pile them on a compost heap rather than burn them, reminds J. Lincoln Pearson, extension floriculturist at the Pennsylvania State University. When the leaves are decayed, this material forms an excellent mold to use for repotting house plants, or topdressing around choice perennials.

Plow Under Residues — Crop residues and weeds should be plowed under rather than burned this fall. They usually add some organic matter and plowing under helps kill insects and diseases especially if the ground freezes to plow depth or deeper, reminds J. O. Dutt, extension vegetable crops specialist at the Pennsylvania State University. Rotation of crops also helps to keep down both insects and diseases on next year's crop.

Heat Lowers Egg Quality—Unheated basements can be used for egg storage, says Carl O. Dossin, extension poultry specialist at the Pennsylvania State University. However, in cold weather, when basements are heated they're not suitable, so he suggests poultrymen find a better place.

The first circulating library was started in Philadelphia in 1731.

Prevention Aids Employe, Owner

Both employe and employer have a stake in fire prevention, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

If you are an employe, fire prevention will:

Provide uninterrupted employment at steady wages without a layoff while the damage caused by a fire is being repaired.

If you are an employer, taking every precaution to insure fire safety will:

Provide your plant or company with interrupted production, sales and profits.

Insure you against losses of skilled workers, good will, customers, labor or markets — these inevitably ensue if there work stoppages caused by fire.

BOBBY BAKER SHOWDOWN DUE NEXT MONDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A showdown has been set for Monday on whether the political payoff charge in the Bobby Baker case will be aired in public hearings before the Nov. 3 election.

In response to Republican demands Friday for prompt, quqestioning of key witnessesn chairman B. Everett Jordan, D.-N.C., agreed to call a meeting of his Senate Rules Committee to let the members decide what they want to do.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said that at the secret session Monday he will offer a motion to have Baker, Philadelphia contractor Matthew McCloskey and others called to testify, probably next Thursday or Friday.

OPPOSES DELAY

Cooper said he saw no reason to put off hearings on the charge by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., that McCloskey made a $35,000 payoff on the District of Columbia Stadium project to Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent.

McCloskey, finance chairman of the Democratic National Committee at the time and later Ambassador to Ireland, has said that he paid Reynolds the exact amount for which he was billed for the premium on the performance bond for the stadium contract.

The rules committee provides that three of the nine membere constitute a quorum for the taking of testimony.

At the hearings Friday and Thursday, no more than three members were present at any time. And only two, Jordan and Cooper, were on hand much of the time — permissible under the rules once a quorum has been established.

Williams protested in the Senate that the committee's Democratic majority was "act ing like a group of small boys delaying a trip to the woodshed in the pious hope that something will happen to the principal before they get there."

Deep Pile Fabrics Require Special Guides In Sewing

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Adams County
Extension Home Economist

Deep pile fabrics are part of the new look for fall and winter. Wide wale corduroys are popular in coats, suits and mix and match separates. Printed corduroys are important in dresses. Velvet, velveteen and plush are headliners in dressup fashions.

MRS. TUNISON

When sewing pile fabric at home, follow a few basic rules.

Before buying the fabric check the recommended yardage on the pattern envelope. Pile fabrics usually require extra yardage. Place pattern pieces on the fabric so that the nap runs in the same direction for all pieces. Cut with the nap running up for a deep, rich color effect, and make extra large notches. Regular size notches often fray off pile fabrics.

Before sewing, loosen the tension on the sewing machine slightly, and lighten the pressure on the presser foot. Sew with about 10 stitches to the inch.

To press a pile fabric, place it on a needle board or on an ironing board covered with a heavy terry cloth towel. Press the fabric on the wrong side with a steam iron or a dampened press cloth and a dry iron. Use light patting motions, not an ironing or rubbing stroke.

LIGHTWEIGHT, WARM

Deep-pile fabrics won acclaim this season because they're lightweight, yet have wonderful warmth qualities. Major uses for these new fabrics are coats, jackets, linings, trimmings and accessories.

Acrylic, such as Orlon, and modacrylic, such as Dynel, man-made fibers, are usually used for these pile fabrics. Backing is usually cotton, acetate or a cotton-acetate combination.

When using a pile fabric, choose a pattern that's simple in design.

In laying fabric and pattern, place pattern on the backing not on the pile. All pieces should be in one direction, preferably down when on the figure. If pile is very deep, cut through one thickness at a time, using sharp shears.

Avoid extra bulk from seams when possible. Often the center back seam in a fall straight coat can be eliminated by cutting the back as one piece. A cut-on front facing will prevent a front seam.

When machine stitching, use eight to 10 stitches to an inch, a medium-size needle and heavy-duty thread. Stitch slowly, allowing time to smooth the pile away from the stitching line toward the garment. Stitch in the direction of the pile whenever possible.

Fingerpressing or a light touch with a warm iron is advised for deep-pile fabrics. Don't steam press them.

COSTUME LININGS

A woman has more confidence when she knows she's well-dressed. And a woman may improve her appearance if the garment she's wearing has a smooth sleek lining.

In the past, linings were used chiefly for decoration. But now they also serve useful purposes. Linings help a costume to keep its shape and help to protect the outer fabric from skin oils. Linings help to discourage wrinkling, both when the garment is on the figure and when it's stored in the closet or packed in a suitcase. What's more, a lining gives the inside of the garment a finished look, and in some cases provides warmth and decoration.

Since there are many lingings on the market, here are some tips on selecting the type best suited for your use. When you go shopping, take a piece of the outer fabric with you. It comes in handy for comparing the color, quality and weight of lining fabrics with the other fabric. Chances are, you'll find a matching lining is most practical unless you wish to use the lining for decoration. Usually the weight of the lining is lighter than the weight of the outer fabric, but the quality should be the same so they'll wear an equal lengthof time..

Know the fiber content of the outer fabric, so you can select a lining that will react to drycleaning or laundering in the same way. If the outer fabric is made from a man-made or lightweight natural fiber, it's practical to line a garment with like fabrics. But, whatever fabric you choose, remember linings with a smooth surface resist soil, touch the skin softly and slide over other fabrics easily. In addition, lining fabrics should be durable and resist crocking, wrinkling and fading.

Parents File New Complaint On School "Prayer For Rain"

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A new motion was filed in U.S. district court here Friday charging the Cornwall-Lebanon suburban joint school system with resuming classroom religious exercises in violation of the constitution.

The new motion was based on a complaint by Mr. and Mrs. James N. Snavely of North Lebanon Twp., who said their children had been asked to join in classroom "prayers for rain."

It was further charged that prelunch prayer periods have been conducted in classrooms of the public school system since the start of the fall term.

The motion was filed by Gerald H. Goldberg, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union acting in behalf of the Snavelys.

FARMER ACTION

The action constituted a renewal of a earlier motion in connection with a suit against the school system filed by the Snavelys last January. The suit sought to test the constitutionality of Bible-reading and prayer practice in the system.

Goldberg said his decision to file a new motion for an injunction to halt the alleged religious exercises was made after he had twice notified an attorney for the school system that teachers had resumed the prayer practices.

The Snavelys have contended that the religious exercises were in violation of a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision.

FAILED PROMISE

Goldberg said that at an initial hearing before Judge Frederick V. Follmer on Feb. 24, the school system promised to halt the practices while, at the same time, announcing its intention to draw up a course of study of the Bible as literature.

The request by the Snavelys for an injunction was denied at that time because of the school board's assurances that it would desist from its earlier religious practices, Goldberg said.

A subsequent hearing was held, and Follmer in a memorandum gave the board until Oct. 15 to submit its proposed course in detail to the court.

Judge Follmer has taken the request for another hearing under advisement.

The Baltimore Colts scored the most points (166) during the NFL exhibition season. They won three games, lost one, tied one.

COUNCIL FACES ISSUE TO EASE MARRIAGE RULE

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council, rapidly moving Friday toward the end of theological discussions at its third session, will soon take up a topic on marriage that could result in easing the written promises of non-Catholics in mixed marriages.

The council schema on marriage will delve into complicated questions of impediments to Catholic marriages, Church courts handling the dissolution of marriages, the ceremony and nature of marriage as a sacrament and the obligations of partners in mixed marriages.

The schema will not resolve the question of birth control. This is part of a separate schema on the Church in the modern world and a subject on which Pope Paul VI has promised a recent medical and theological new study taking into account investigations.

The Roman Catholic Church has long required the non-Catholic partner in a mixed marriage to sign a pledge that any children will be baptized and educated as Catholics.

Many bishops, especially from countries like the United States where Catholicism is not the dominant religion, share the view of British Archbishop John C. Heenan that it should be possible for non-Catholics to agree on the Catholic upbringing of children without signing a promise.

The council also might open the way for a mixed marriage to be blessed by non-Catholic ministers as well as by the Catholic priest who solemnizes the nuptials.

Both issues — the written blessing of mixed marriages by promise and the restriction of the Catholic Church alone — are obstacles to Christian unity.

The Catholic attitude gradually has changed in recent decades. At one time mixed marriages were customarily performed only in the parish rectory. Today they are celebrated in the church itself, though without a Nuptial Mass.

Other changes are likely to speed up the long delays in dissolving marriages involving Catholics. The Sacred Roman Rota, supreme tribunal of Catholicism in settling marriage cases, may be extended in scope beyond the Vatican so that lesser rotas could be created in individual nations.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment and unemployment both showed expected, seasonal declines in September as approximately 1.7 million teenagers left jobs to return to school.

The unemployment rate for the month — 5.2 per cent — was slightly higher than August's 5.1 per cent but below the 5.5 per cent registered last September.

Employment stood at 70.8 million, compared with 72.1 in August and 69.5 million last September.

Unemployment was 3.3 million, down 350,000 from August, and down 200,000 from last September. It was the lowest September unemployment total since 1959.

The job figures, given at the Labor Department's regular monthly briefing Thursday, are the last to be issued before the Nov. 3 presidential election. The next figures are due Nov. 5.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary test pictures relayed from Japan by the Syncom 3 communications satellite have boosted hopes for good U.S. reception for television shots of the Olympic Games, which open in Tokyo next week.

The satellite is hovering over the Pacific Ocean and is 22,300 miles in space.

Information Director Matthew Gordon of the Communications Satellite Corporation said Thursday the test transmission performance was "very good" considering Syncom was not originally designed for television relay.

COMSAT promised even better pictures for the formal inauguration on Tuesday of the trans-Pacific television space link, with the installation of highly refined specialized equipment flown from Tokyo to this country with a team of Japanese engineers.

YOUTH GIVEN THREE YEARS IN SLAYING

HARRISBURG (AP) — A 15-year-old boy was sentenced to three years in the State Diagnostic and Rehabilitation Center after his murder indictment was dismissed Thursday on the grounds of a recent U.S. Supreme Courut decision.

Jerry Joseph Cofield of Harrisburg pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in Dauphin County Court after the murder indictment in the death of Paul S. Gundrum, 66, also of Harrisburg, was dismissed by Judge Homer L. Kreider.

Judge Kreider said a recent decision of the supreme court "compelled" him to suppress evidence relating to statements allegedly given by Cofield to Harrisburg police in connection with Gundrum's death.

5-4 DECISION

The judge's reference was to a 5-4 decision of the Supreme Court last summer in which it held that the "totality" of the circumstances must be considered in admitting as evidence a statement or confession of a defendant in a murder trial.

Arthur L. Goldberg, attorney for the defendant, cited the Supreme Court decision in his petition for dismissal.

Goldberg contended that his client had not been advised of his constitutional rights to remain silent when interrogated by police and had not clearly been advised to consult with an attorney before making any statements.

"I am reluctant to take this action," said Judge Kreider.

But he said that he could not do otherwise within the framework of the higher court's decision.

Gundrum died in April some ten days after suffering injuries in an alleged beating in front of his home.

After dismissal of the murder indictment, Kreider sentenced Cofield to three years in the Philadelphia center and ordered him to pay a fine of $500 and costs.

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It happens at least a million times a day in America. Every day.

A man and a woman inadvertently bump into each other. Neither is to blame.

But what happens?

"Excuse me, ma'am," the man says, and steps aside.

And what does the woman do?

Well, in a great majority of cases she either glares through the male miscreant as if he didn't exist, or else summarily dismisses him with a surly remark, such as, "You could at least look where you're going."

ANOTHER PETAL GONE

And as she strides on in feminine triumph she leaves behind her an embittered man in whose soul there has withered another petal on the flower of chivalry.

No matter how often they are confronted with the problem, men can't quite reconcile themselves to the bad public manners of women who really should know better.

We all are familiar with the old story of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

POINTS MORAL

Dr. Jekyll was an essentially kind man, a scientist dedicated to the service of humanity. But every time he took a nip from a smoking brew in his laboratory, he emerged a beast. The moral, I have always supposed, is: If you have to drink, buy it in a bar — don't make it in the basement.

But this famous 19th century tale has had an infamous 20th century sequel. It is the story of Mrs. Jekyll and Mrs. Hyde.

Mrs. Jekyll is a fine wife and mother. At home she sets an excellent example for her children. People love to be invited to her home, because she is a gracious hostess, attentive to their needs and solicitous of their welfare. As they leave, her men guests often murmur, "That lucky Dr. Jekyll — to have such a wonderful woman as his wife."

SUDDEN CHANGE COMES

But when Mrs. Jekyll leaves her home — no matter whether she has had a nip or two from a bottle in her kitchen laboratory — a sudden change comes over her.

She turns into Mrs. Hyde.

Gone is her sweet courtesy, her gentle airs, her consideration for others. A baleful transformation has taken place.

Outwardly, she still looks to other women like Mrs. Jekyll. But to men she encounters she looks like Mrs. Hyde — an unpredictable monster with the manners of a fishwife and the conduct of a sabre-toothed tigress.

She prowls the streets and stores poking strange men in their eyes with her umbrella, stepping on their toes with her spiked heels, elbowing them aside in restaurants, rushing ahead of them to get a taxi.

After a hard day of abusing and bruising all men who happen to stand in her path, she returns home, and takes off the mask of Mrs. Hyde. When Dr. Jekyll enters, there is sweet, angel-faced Mrs. Jekyll, waiting to put on his slippers.

But why does Mrs. Hyde act this way to men in public? Some say it's because her shoes are too tight. Some say it's because she just secretly hates and resents the natural superiority of man over woman.

Whatever the reason, most men are getting awfully tire dof the Mrs. Hydes — and the Miss Hydes — of this world. They are not going to get away with it forever.

There'll come a day!

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION APPROVED FOR THE FIRST TIME BY THE SESSION OF 1963 OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA AND PUBLISHED BY THE ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

SESSION OF 1963
No. 7
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article nine, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for and regulating Commonwealth debt for capital improvements and certain other purposes and prohibiting debts and obligations inconsistent therewith.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

That article nine, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended to read:

Section 4. (a) No debt shall be created by or on behalf of this Commonwealth unless (1) the debt has been authorized by statute, (2) the debt is for capital improvements separately specified in the statute, (3) the debt has been submitted to the qualified electors of the Commonwealth at a general, municipal, primary or special election and has been approved by a majority vote of those voting on the question, and (4) the debt is evidenced by general obligation bonds of this Commonwealth. Except as herein provided, no debt or other obligation shall hereafter be created by or on behalf of this Commonwealth or by any Commonwealth Authority or other Commonwealth agency the repayment of which will be made, either directly or indirectly, from Commonwealth revenues whether by direct payment or through leases or other contractual obligations. The foregoing provisions do not apply (1) to debts payable solely from the revenue from designated projects and not payable out of any other revenues of the Commonwealth, (2) to the debts created in a manner provided by law by the issuance and sale of tax anticipation notes payable in the fiscal period in which they are issued from revenues already provided, (3) to loans authorized by section eighteen of this article, (4) to leases and contractual obligations entered into in the course of the ordinary conduct of government and not for the purpose of financing capital improvements by making payments through rentals or otherwise to liquidate debts created by Commonwealth Authorities or other Commonwealth agencies without the approval of the qualified electors, (5) to debts created by any Municipal or local Authority or by the State Public School Building Authority, and (6) to debts created by Commonwealth authorities for capital improvements authorized by the Legislature and approved by the authority prior to the ratification of this amendment. Nor do the foregoing provisions apply to debt created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or defend the Commonwealth in war or to rehabilitate areas affected by disaster. No debt to supply casual deficiencies of revenue shall be created exceeding one million dollars in the aggregate at any one time.

(b) All bonds issued shall be serial bonds repayable in equal annual installments over a period of time which shall be provided by law. The first payment of principal shall not be more than two years after the date of the bond.

(c) The General Assembly may authorize, by statute, the issuance of general obligation bonds for the purpose of assuming any debt heretofore incurred by any Commonwealth Authority and which is currently payable from Commonwealth revenues under leases to this Commonwealth. The General Assembly may, from time to time, authorize by law the issuance of refunding bonds to pay any bonded debt of the Commonwealth existing at the time.

Section 2. This amendment shall become effective six months after the date of its approval by the majority of the electors voting thereon.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION APPROVED FOR THE FIRST TIME BY THE SESSION OF 1964 OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA AND PUBLISHED BY THE ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

SESSION OF 1964
No. 1
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article nine, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing taxing authorities to exempt certain persons from occupational privilege taxes.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

That section one, artiole nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended to read:

Section 1. All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects, within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax and shall be levied and collected under general laws; but the General Assembly may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit, institutions of purely public charity and real and personal property owned, occupied, and used by any branch, post, or camp of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines; and the General Assembly may, by general laws, set up standards and qualifications for private forest reserves, and make special provision for the taxation thereof. Citizens and residents of this Commonwealth, who served in any war or armed conflict in which the United States was engaged and were honorably discharged or released under honorable circumstances from active service, shall be exempt from the payment of all real property taxes upon the residence occupied by the said citizens and residents of this Commonwealth imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any of its political subdivisions if, as a result of military service, they are blind, paraplegic or double or quadruple amputees, and if the State Veterans' Commission determines that such persons are in need of the tax exemptions granted herein. Any taxing authority may exempt from occupational privilege taxes, persons deriving less than one thousand dollars per year from such occupation.

SESSION OF 1964
No. 2
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing the General Assembly to require the completion of a course of training and education by certain justices of the peace and aldermen.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

That article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended by adding at the end thereof a new section to read:

Section 28. The General Assembly may, by general law, provide that a course of training and education be completed by justices of the peace and aldermen hereafter selected, who have not been admitted to practice law in this Commonwealth. The required course of training and education shall not exceed three months' duration, one month of which shall be taken after their election and prior to their assuming office. The remaining two months of training and education shall be taken immediately after assuming office. Their jurisdiction shall extend to summary offenses only prior to completion of the required course. Persons who have served as justices of the peace or aldermen prior to the adoption of this amendment shall not be required to take this course. The required course shall be at the cost of the Commonwealth.

SESSION OF 1964
No. 3
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing that article sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to private corporations, be replaced by a new article.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

That the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended by adding thereto a new article to read:

ARTICLE
Private Corporations

Section 1. Certain Unused Charters Void. — The charters and privileges granted prior to 1874 to private corporations which had not been organized in good faith and commenced business prior to 1874 shall be void.

Section 2. Certain Charters to Be Subject to the Constitution. — Private corporations which have accepted or accept the Constitution of this Commonwealth or the benefits of any law passed by the General Assembly after 1873 governing the affairs of corporations shall hold their charters subject to the provisions of the Constitution of this Commonwealth.

Section 3. Revocation, Amendment and Repeal of Charters and Corporation Laws.—All charters of private corporations and all present and future common or statutory law with respect to the formation or regulation of private corporations or prescribing powers, rights, duties or liabilities of private corporations or their officers, directors or shareholders may be revoked, amended or repealed.

Section 4. Compensation for Property Taken by Corporations Under Right of Eminent Domain. — Municipal and other corporations invested with the privilege of taking private property for public use shall make just compensation for property taken, injured or destroyed by the construction or enlargement of their works, highways or improvements and compensation shall be paid or secured before the taking, injury or destruction.

Section 2. The existing article sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is hereby repealed.

SESSION OF 1964
No. 4
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing that articles six, seven and twelve of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to public officers be amended and consolidated into a single article.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

That articles six, seven and twelve of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be consolidated and amended to read:

ARTICLE
Public Officers

Section 1. Selection of Officers not Otherwise Provided for in Constitution. —All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law.

Section 2. Incompatible Offices.—No member of Congress from this State, nor any person holding or exercising any office or appointment of trust or profit under the United States, shall at the same time hold or exercise any office in this State to which a salary, fees or perquisites shall be attached. The General Assembly may by law declare what offices are incompatible.

Section 3. Oath of Office.—Senators, Representatives and all Judicial, State and county officers shall, before entering on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation before a person authorized to administer oaths.

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth and that I will discharge the duties of my office with fidelity."

The oath or affirmation shall be administered to a member of the Senate or to a member of the House of Representatives in the hall of the House to which he shall have been elected.

Any person refusing to take the oath or affirmation shall forfeit his office.

Section 4. Power of Impeachment.—The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Section 5. Trial of Impeachments.—All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate. When sitting for that purpose the Senators shall be upon oath or affirmation. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Section 6. Officers Liable to Impeachment. — The Governor and all other civil officers shall be liable to impeachment for any misbehavior in office, but judgment in such cases shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of trust or profit under this Commonwealth. The person accused, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment according to law.

Section 7. Removal of Civil Officers. —All civil officers shall hold their offices on the condition that they behave themselves well while in office, and shall be removed on conviction of misbehavior in office or of any infamous crime. Appointed civil officers, other than judges of the courts of record, may be removed at the pleasure of the power by which they shall have been appointed. All civil officers elected by the people, except the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, members of the General Assembly and judges of the courts of record, shall be removed by the Governor for reasonable cause, after due notice and full hearing, on the address of two-thirds of the Senate.

Section 2. The article heading of existing article six, the complete article seven and the article heading and section three of article twelve of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, are hereby repealed.

LILLIAN REIS IS CLEARED OF LAST CHARGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "At last you are over your problems in Philadelphia."

Judge Earl Chudoff spoke the words to Lillian Reis Friday after acaquitting her of charges that she allowed undesirables in the Celebrity Room nightclub she used to run and permitted woman employes to solicit drinks.

The judge referred to the fact that the indictments he had disposed of were the last outstanding against Miss Reis here. He then told her:

"Now that the day has arrived when you have paid your debt to society in Philadelphia, I hope you will embark on a way of living that will make you a credit to society.

"There's nothing wrong with being an entertainer. Every entertainer wants to get to the top rung. I think you can make it the right way."

Miss Reis, a former chorine in the Celebrity Room thanked the judge, saying: "I promise to do my best."

At the start of the trial, Judge Chudoff, who heard the casae without a jury, fined Miss Reis $50 for contempt of court after she arrived an hour and 35 minutes late.

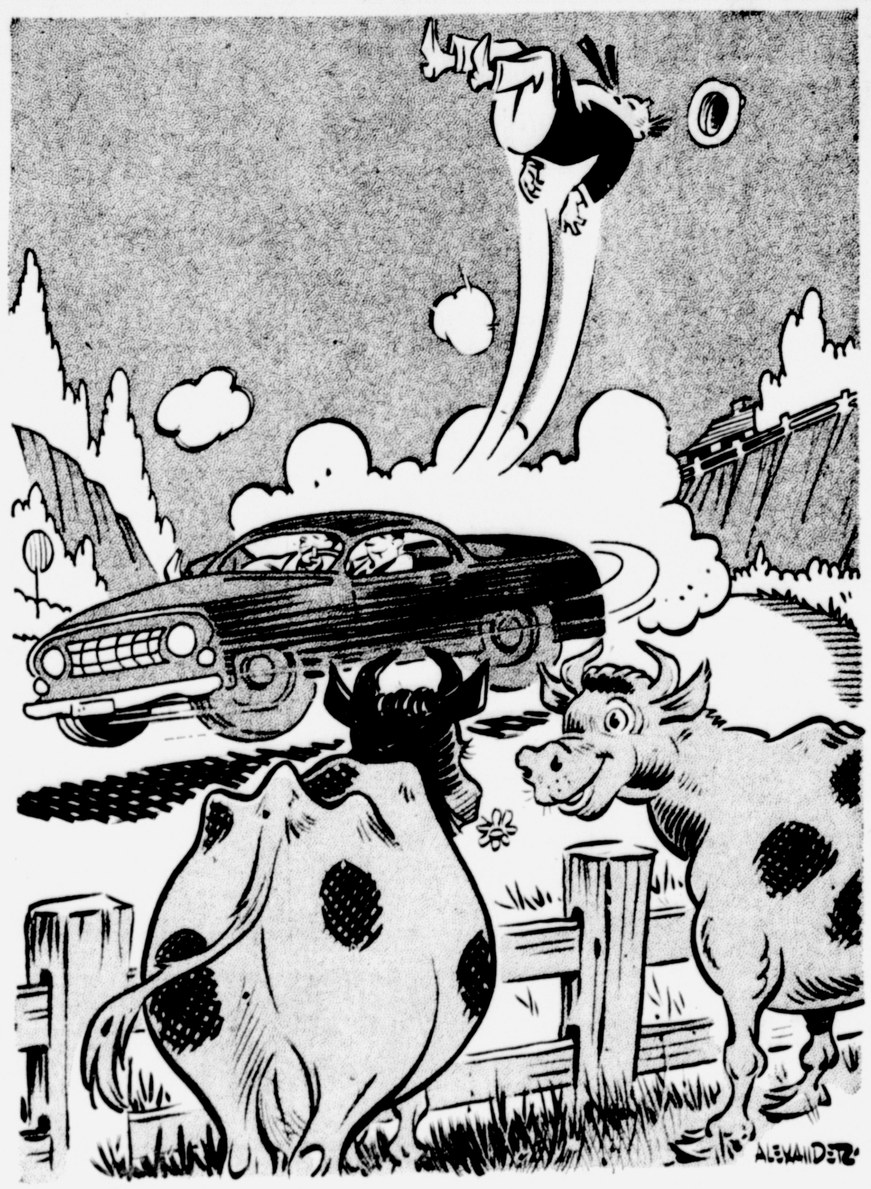
Earlier this year, Miss Reis was convicted of masterminding the August, 1959, burglary at the Pottsville home of John B. Rich, a wealthy coal operator. Three men also were convicted in the case. All four have appealed.

Slum Families Refuse To Leave

NEW DELHI (AP) — The exasperated city government has decided that about 100 slum families can just stay in the slums for all it cares.

They were allotted 240-square-foot tracts on which to escape their filthy ghettos and start life anew, but they quickly sold the plots to big landowners and moved back into the slums.

The city fathers soon found out about it and are trying to recover the land as illegally sold, but they have decided to exclude these slum-dwellers from further land relief.



The best one season runs-batted-in total achieved by two players on the same team is 347. The mark was set in 1931 by Yankee first baseman Lou Gehrig (184) and right fielder Babe Ruth (163).

Canoe Rentals Up In North Country

WINNIPEG (AP)—The Hudson Bay Company's rent-a-canoe program for adventuresome tourists has caught on so well it's almost sure to be expanded next year, says Hugh Ross, who helped launch the project. There have been hundreds of inquiries about the project, mostly from Americans.

U-Paddle, as the service is called, provides canoes at five trading posts — Yellowknife, N.W.T.; Waterways, Alta.; Ile a la Crosse, Sask.; La Ronge, Sask., and Norway House, Man.

Aimed mainly at tourists who want to follow historic fur trading rouse, U-Paddle now has 28 canoes in use. The 17-foot aluminum craft weigh 75 pounds and rent for $25 a week. They can be picked up at one post and turned in at another, as in the car rental business. The company uses planes and trains to return them to the original base.

"This kind of travel is not kid stuff," Ross says. Working at Winnipeg, he tries to separate those travellers able to take care of themselves in the North from the ones who can't.

Guides are available and all renters are advised to say where they're and to call in at trading posts along the way so that their approximate position will be known.

One of the longest routes is 700 miles and takes about two months by canoe.

U. S. Radio Base Built At Perth

PERTH, Australia (AP) — A huge United States Navy radio station, with one of its 13 aerial masts higher than the Eiffel Tower, is being built in a remote corner of Australia.

The $90 million project will be the largest American defense installation in the Southern Hemisphere. From the base will go out instructions to nuclear-powered Polaris submarines in the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific.

The base is gradually taking shape near the tip of North-West Cape, a lonely finger of land jutting into the Indian Ocean, 800 miles north of Perth.

YANK CABBIE KNOWS LONDON LIKE NATIVE

LONDON (AP)—They call him "The Yank" and Scotland Yard traffic officials say that he knows London better than any other American.

Sam Strowman, originally from Boston, drives a London taxicab.

He is supposed to drive his black, old-fashioned-looking cab by the shortest route from any given point to any of London's mass of theaters, museums, railroad stations and tourist spots.

He had to pass a stiff cabbie's test based on this sort of knowledge before he got his license.

"It took me 10 months to pass the test, which is below par, I understand," said Sam, who served with the U. S. 8th Air Force in England as a waistgunner during World War II.

BRITISH WIFE

He did he become a London cabby?

"I married a British girl during the war and when she got homesick in Boston we came back here," Sam said. "I became a cab driver because I used to use taxis so much.

"I thought to myself—this is a good business."

London cabs are so high that an average height person can get in without bending much. They can turn on a dime.

"They're pretty comfortable, but not all that cheap to run," says Sam, who owns his own cab.

Sam, 44, has now been driving a London taxi for 15 years.

He knows just about every street, every turn, in the sprawling city.

"There's a big difference between taxi riding in the states and here," Sam said.

"In New York, say, it's kind of a tradition for the cabdriver to talk to the passenger. People don't talk much in London. You just look straight ahead and drive.

"Of course, I'm always interested when I pick up an American fare. Some of my mates pull my leg and say they're bad tippers but I always do all right myself.

NOT RECOGNIZED

"But not many of them recognize I'm an American."

Sam said that he had a visit from his father four years ago. "He was intrigued by my stand-up-type London cab and was terrified when I drove on the left-hand side of the road. I said: 'Relax, Dad, it's okay.'

"We pasesd through the traffic crush in the center of London and he said: 'This is dangerous, Son.'

"I call London 'the battlefield,'" Sam said. "Those narrow streets and all that traffic! But I've got used to the place now."

None of Sam's three sons wants to follow on in dad's footsteps. "I guess they're wise," he said.

How does he get on with London's policemen?

"Pretty good. A lot of them know me now. I drove against a 'halt' sign one day and one policeman told his mate: "It's all right—he's on lease-lend."

Indians Demand English Papers

NEW DELHI (AP) — English-language dailies and periodicals continue to command the largest readership in India, 17 years after freedom.

Fifty-four English dailies, with a readership of 1,452,000, have 26 per cent of the circulation of of all the 503 dailies in India.

Hindi, which is the state language and is spoken by the majority of the Indian people, came next with 142 dailies but with only 764,000 aggregate circulation.

Annual figures released by the register of newspapers for India said newspaper readers in 1963 increased by 5.4 per cent over 1962 — from 19,258,000 to 20,291,000.

But India still has a long way to go to reach the standards of the West or Japan. India's newspaper reading public is less than 5 per cent of the total population.

The largest daily circulation in India is that of a Bengali newspaper in Calcutta (Ananda Bazar Patrika) with 146,819. Only nine dailies have a circulation of more than 100,000.

EDUCATION FOR GREATNESS
MacArthur's Memoirs Reveal Unique Military Education

By JIM DAN HILL

DOUGLAS MacARTHUR is the greatest American general to emerge from World Wars I and II, in the opinion of Montgomery, an English field marshal who has refused to be stingy with his opinions.

He knew Eisenhower well and liked him. He considered Ike a great chairman-of-the-board type, but hardly a great strategist, tactician, or field commander. In other words, not a great captain, compared to MacArthur.

Under such circumstances, British opinions are suspect. Tales of triumphs in spite of friends as well as foes are an old military custom. The English never had to work with MacArthur.

But if MacArthur was not the greatest American general produced from those two wars, he should have been. None less than the gods of war themselves could have designed a heritage, boyhood, education and development environment for the creation of a truly great soldier.

He was born on a small army post in 1880. His mother was a competitive-minded Norfolk lady in whose veins flowed the blood of resentful Confederate generals. His father, who wore the bars of an infantry captain, Regular Army, for 23 years, had been the distinguished boy-colonel of a Wisconsin National Guard, infantry regiment, the 24th Wisconsin, through much of the Civil War.

The father was too young to vote in 1864, but his men told the Soldier Election Commissioners that, if their colonel could not vote, they could not and the commissioners had best get out of the regimental area before they were thrown out. The boy colonel voted. Came peace, he accepted the Regular captaincy and headed for the Indian frontier.

MacARTHUR'S EARLIEST memories are of this frontier where he learned to ride and shoot before he could read.

But by the time he was in West Point, the Spanish War had made papa a major general and the field commander against Philippine guerrillas.

In his senior year, young MacArthurs was first captain, Cadet Corps, and at the top of the academic honors list. He does not so record it in his soon-to-be released "Reminiscences," but it is an old army story that his mother stayed near at hand and was not only an inspiration but also a driver. MacArthur mentions only his mother's inspiration; attributes his academic success to orderly habits and a good memory. What more does a student need?

Becoming first cadet captain alone was enough to label him as a student destined for the stars. The records of Robert E. Lee and scores of lesser known Civil War generals, North and South, who had been first captains proclaimed that idea. Subsequent records of First Captains John J. Pershing, C. P. Summerall and MacArthur, himself, have further established the principle.

YOUNG MacARTHUR became a lieutenant, Engineer Corps, just in time to join his father as an aide. He later accompanied him to Japan as a military observer, Russo-Japanese War, where he and the general saw the most highly organized form of warfare prior to the outbreak of World War I.

They also saw and became acquainted with all the top level Japanese commanders, afloat and ashore. The findings and impressions of father and son were read by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, then in the White House. Little wonder that the younger MacArthur was soon to become an aide to the President.

But before their return, father and son toured all Eastern Asia, including India, and wrote more military reports and estimates. Within the limited horizons of the America of that era, young MacArthur had unwittingly become an outstanding authority on the Far East.

At the same time, the erstwhile boy colonel saw to it that the lieutenant of engineers did not generate into a palace soldier. He shipped him to the Philippines on a topographic survey project. When ambushed on a jungle trail by two guerrillas; and with his hat torn by an unsuspected blast, he killed both with his pistol. An accompanying sergeant opined any future life for the lieutenant was "velvet."

It was a rough road to maturity with rare opportunities for developing complete self-confidence, physically and intellectually. He had learned to care for his soldiers; to be gracious toward civilians; to express deep convictions.

This is not a review of the book. Its publication date is later this month. Seldom have I read a biography wherein a young man was so completely molded for a future role of greatness. Its impact from the book prompted these special comments.

PLANT BLAZES GREATEST LOSS

Despite fire prevention efforts and the installation of the latest protective devices, industrial fires loom large as a contributor to the nation's fire losses, Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, said today.

Fires in 1963 destroyed more than $1 billion of property, and took 11,800 lives.

And more than half of the property losses were in business or industrial establishments — places where people earn their living.

"The dollar loss in property destruction was only a fraction of the total loss caused by fires," Mr. Vincent added. "The indirect losses in medical costs for the treatment of injuries; in jobs, wages and production; the reductions in savings; and the financial toll of business failures were probably two or three times greater."

Yet, said Mr. Vincent, it is not mere luck or chance that many business and industrial firms have no fires or a long record of low fire losses, uninterrupted business activity and steady employment.

"The good fire records of fire-free firms as a rule are the result of management recognition of the need for care with fire, coupled with maximum fire precautions and company training and organization for fire safety."

FIRE PREVENTION NOTE

This week's safety note: Keep plenty of ashtrays, and big ones, too, in every room if there are smokers in your house, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Industry Should Provide Adequate Safety Measures

Industrial plants should provide all departments with proper type waste receptacles as an important step in fire prevention, the National Board of Fire Underwriters said today.

"Many industrial and commercial concerns, recognizing the hazards inherent in combustible waste materials, furnish carefully chosen receptacles for waste materials and provide for their regular removal and safe disposal," the board added.

Receptacles in industrial plants used for waste wood, paper and rags should be:

Constructed of a material that will confine a fire within the receptacle.

Small enough so that dangerous quantities of combustibles can not be accumulated.

Equipped with a cover, or other suitable device.

Strong enough to withstand ordinary usage without rupturing or being punctured and resistant to ignition.

USE RECEPTACLES

Receptacles for oil-soaked waste of wood, paper and rags — all of which are subject to spontaneous ignition — should be:

Of all metal construction.

Air tight.

Again, small enough so that dangerous quantities of the waste cannot be accumulated.

Receptacles for small quantities of waste flammable liquids should be:

Constructed of a material that will confine a fire within the receptacle.

Equipped with self-closing fill and pour spouts.

Constructed of a material which will not rupture, puncture or break if dropped.

As important as the type of waste receptacle used is the setting up of a regular system of collecting and safely disposing of waste materials, the National Board added.

In Case Of Fire

At home—

Quickly get everybody out of the house.

Call the fire department.

(Be sure everyone in your family knows how to call the fire department.)

At public gatherings—

Walk, do not run, to the nearest exit. Call the fire department immediately. Keep calm.

BRITAIN WILL STAY CLOSE TO U. S. POLICIES

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Britain's major parties are firmly bound to maintain close partnership with the United States on world problems no matter which wins the election two weeks hence.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of the Conservative party and Harold Wilson, the Labor party chief, do not agree on all the elements needed for an effective understanding with Americans, however. Overtones of a latter-day British nationalism are detectable. This nationalism is implied in the more independent role each party would have Britain play in the world.

One issue fundamental to British-American relations and to the future of NATO finds Conservatives and Laborites in conflict.

"THE NEW BRITAIN"

This is in the military and strategic role they want for Britain in defense of the non-Communist world.

Douglas-Home wants to preserve Britain's status as a nuclear power. Otherwise, he has said, "France and Red China will take our place in the international councils of the world."

Wilson wants "the new Britain" to shed what is called the independent British nuclear deterrent. He says "it is not independent, not British and not a deterrent."

POSITIONS DIFFER

Instead, Labor would like British troops, with their traditions of global service and their intercontinental base facilities, to act as trouble-shooting policemen for the West and for the United Nations.

A comparison of rival Tory and Labor policy statements and election aims indicates Douglas-Home is closer than Wilson to the official position of the Johnson administration on arms control in middle Europe, and military cooperation with Spain.

Party attitudes suggest Labor is closer to current American thinking than Conservatives on Britain's defense role, relations with the nonwhite nations and the United Nations' future.

OPPOSE U. S. POLICIES

On some key issues Conservatives and Laborites are united in opposing, or in reinforcing, established American policies.

The British parties join against the Americans in:

—Safeguarding Britain's right to develop nonstrategic trade with Cuba, Red China and other Communist lands.

—Extending long-term credit facilities to the Soviet Union.

—Working for Red China's admission into the United Nations and, notably, into East-West disarmament negotiations.

They are united in support of the Americans over:

—The resolve to defend Allied rights in West Berlin.

—The broad lines of Allied policy toward an over-all German peace settlement.

—The Johnson plan for freezing nuclear delivery systems and for a bonfire of aging bombers.

—The need to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

No matter which party wins power Oct. 15, the British government of the day would want to preserve the tradition of sometimes tough, sometimes straight, yet always friendly, talking with leaders of the United States and their representatives.

Franciosa Finds He Likes Being A "Valentine"; ABC Star Had Planned Drama, Not Comedy Series

BY RUTH E. THOMPSON

"Valentine's Day" now happens every Friday night . . . that being the title of the ABC series (9 - 9:30 p.m.) starring Tony Franciosa as a bachelor, glamour-boy editor.

Franciosa was quick to leap to the defense of his character's character, though.

"It's important to know that Val is not just a playboy. He's a serious nonfiction editor. Gives us great story scopes, gives him a chance to know all sorts of people, not just fiction writers. Maybe one week it's a taxi driver who's writing a book, or a window washer."

ABOUT A PLAYBOY

"Or a girl?"

Well, it seems, since this is about a playboy, there'll be plenty of girls, but nothing that would give any one actress a steady job.

There is, however, an ever-present valet . . . and a some times mother.

Japanese-American Jack Soo plays a Chinese-American who was Valentine Farrow's buddy in the Korean War . . . and who's now the valet to Val . . . and his chief foil. And the mother? Says Franciosa, "That wonderful lady, Helen Traubel." No, the famed Wagnerian soprano hasn't broken into song so far. Just acting.

"Though I hadn't done a series before," explains Franciosa, "it was in my combination motion-picture-television contract with 20th Century - Fox that I would when the right story came along.

"Six dramatic ideas were to be submitted to me in the space of a year-and-a-half . . . and we were to shoot a pilot of the most suitable.

"I was thinking only in terms of drama," says the darkly handsome young man whose "Hatful of Rain" performance on stage and screen won him a couple of "Best Actor" awards, the Venice Film Festival Award and an Oscar nomination.

There'll be no "steady girl" in the "Valentine's Day" series starring Tony Franciosa . . . because the scriptwriters plan to keep him a footloose man-about-town. Pretty Janet Waldo gets into the act, though, as a Gal Friday. Half hour comedy is seen Fridays at 9 p.m. on ABC.

UP CAME COMEDY

"We were up to number three when what came up was 'Valentine's Day.' Comedy; not drama. But I liked it. I also liked the part about Hal Kanter being in charge of the writing as well as the production."

CHANGE DIRECTIONS

But the quick switch from drama to comedy in the life of Franciosa pales against the very real serendipity that launched the present-day well established him on an acting career in the first place.

An unhappy student with no motivation for good grades, he'd quit high school and shipped to the Orient as a steward. At 28, he was back, seemingly where he started, in his native New York City.

"Then one night a friend asked me to go with him while he tried out for a part in a play at the YWCA. No, not 'M' . . . 'W.' The YW on 52nd St.

STAGE FRIGHT

"When it came his turn to read, he got stage fright . . . and the director asked me if I wanted to try. I was accepted; the play was 'Sea Gull.' That's how it started.

"Then it got worse for a while. The others seemdd to know where to move, how to stand. I didn't. Until then I'd never even seen a play."

Motivation wasn't missing anymore. He wanted to learn.

"About the best one of the kids could do in the way of advice was suggest I buy a paper and pick a drama teacher from one of the ads. I did." After than came a four-year scholarship to the Dramatic Workshop. Then the New York Repertory, followed by more repertory in other cities and stock.

"By the time he got to Broadway, still a young man, he was a fine actor," says a friend. "He also had good looks, presence . . and in an age of mumblers, a good clear voice."

"I suppose," concedes Franciosa, "that I did give my greatest attention to speech. That's where the English actors are aheaad."

"A Hatful of Rain" (in 1955) — his third Broadway role — turned out to be his passport to fame and success. Coincidentally, recreating the role of Polo, was his third movie role.

THINK NEW YORK

Franciosa, who was once married to Shelley Winters, is now married to Judy Balaban. Together with their infant daughter, they make their home in California.

The series has an in-built way of reminding him of his home town.

"Our way of dressing out here, of course, is the same all year round. But with wardrobe for the series we have to remember the overcoats if it's supposed to be in winter, things like that."

And whatever happened to the friend. Did he get over his stage fright? Did he ever go back to the YW's acting group?

"No. Don't think he ever thought about it again. But he's doing fine." Seems he has a real-life job similar to Valentine's . . . because the friend is now in the publications field.

SICK BED REQUEST

Everybody but everybody loves Lucy. They say the pop-eyed redhead drew bigger crowds a couple of weeks ago when the World's Fair saluted her, than has any head of state. She's rating pretty high, with Desi Arnaz the fourth, her 11-year-old son. She gave into his sickbed request when he started recovering from a surfboard accident. Seems he wanted to let his hair grow into a "Beatle-cut" because after all, "It'll cover the scar, Mom." Bonus feature for the young man is squeals from girls in the studio audience.

TWO FOLLOW POP

Raymond Massey's daughter, Anna, and his son, Daniel, have followed their father's example by espousing acting careers. His other son, Geoffrey, is a successful architect in Vancouver.

RELATED

Twelve-year-old Gina Gillespie, of "90 Bristol Court," is distantly related to the legendary inventor, Thomas A. Edison.

CARTOON STYLE

Cartoonist Chrales Addams remembers well his first meeting with Carolyn Jones, who's now starring as Morticia in the ABC series based on Mr. Addams' works. Seems Miss Jones's dog got in the Addams mood instantly, and bit with such fervor Mr. Addams remembers it yet.

John H. Secondari Is Presented Award

In ceremonies at Grosseto, Italy, John H. Secondari, executive producer of the ABC Special Projects Division, received Italy's Guglielmo Marconi World Television Award for his part in the first live trans-Atlantic television Telestar program in 1962. Similarly honored were Richard Dimblebo of Great Britain and Etienne Lalow of France.

Mr. Secondari did the Italian commentary on the program to Europe. Executive producer of "The Saga of Western Man" series (now commencing its second year) Mr. Secondari is noted as a novelist ("Coins in the Fountain").

BEST DRESSED

Management of the daytime "The Doctors" series says most of the NBC daytime serial's wardrobe money is spent on outfitting Jean Anderson for her Nora Anderson role as a not-altogether-detestable villainess.

DIALING AROUND

Walter Brennan, who always seemed so natural as Grandpa McCoy, is playing a role a little truer to his own life in his new ABC series "Tycoon." Brennan, who gets up early to go to work — in a chauffeur-driven car — is portraying a self-made millionaire.

Daniel Boone Is Similar To Davy Crockett

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fess Parker and his coonskin cap are back and the resemblance of this season's new "Daniel Boone" to another season's Davy Crockett is nothing short of amazing.

And, it should be added, the resemblance of the Thursday night NBC series' plots to those of 1,001 TV tales before it is pretty remarkable too. All of which adds up to a presumption that kids of the coonskin cap age will love it.

HORSELESS WESTERN

The highly fictionalized treatment constructed around the life of a real American pioneer is not entirely without interest to the student of television. Set in the period of the American Revolution, "Daniel Boone" is a sort of horseless Western.

But it breaches the code of the Western seriously because in this version, the mighty woodsman is a happily married fellow who lives with his pretty wife and two children in a settlement. It must be a pretty sophisticated settlement, because his wife obviously is able to buy mascara and eye liner and has the services of a hairdresser. But nobody ever had a happily married cowboy hero.

FAMILIAR LINE

The story line Thursday night was a nice familiar one. A nasty halfbred kidnapped a pretty Cherokee princess and swapped her in Boonesborough for a jug of rum and a horn of powder.

It turns out, though, that the princess is no Cherokee, but a white child brought up by the chief after her parents had been dispatched by a raiding band of non-Cherokees.

Just when things looked blackest, the object of all this fuss slipped out of the stockade and ran back to her Indian foster father. And she told Daniel it wasn't the color of the skin that mattered but it was where the heart was.

Surely there must be a more rewarding way to spend the early part of Thursday evening than watching this sort of nonsense, even for 12-year-olds.

Jack Benny Does Not Plan To Quit

TV reporters covering a closed-circuit press conference with Jack Benny always come away with fresh admiration for the man who chose his age and stuck to it. At 70, he's still sticking with the "never a day over 39," though he seriously admits: "I feel better now than when I ACTUALLY was 39 years old." Some of his secrets? "I diet, play golf and work hard." Also, he has no plans to retire. Currently he's a hot property on rival networks. His new shows are gracing CBS on Sunday afternoons.

PONDERED?

A West Virginia grandmother, promised she could choose her new grandson's name, wanted to name him Lorne after "Bonanza" star, Lorne Green, patriarch of the Ponderosa. When the baby arrived — a girl — Granny still stuck to the script, chose as a name Ponda Rosa.

WINNER

Gin rummy champion of the "Tycoon" set is Pat McNulty who plays Walter Brennan's granddaughter.

SPORTS STARS TO GET AWARDS

Though exact categories are still under consideration, a Grand Award of Sports will be instituted early in 1965 by the American Broadcasting Company in association with Sports Illustrated and Time-Life Broadcast The series of award to 1964's "outstanding athletic stars" are to be presented (ala Oscar, Emmy and Tony statuettes) at gala ceremonies which will be broadcast by ABC as a 90-minute special.

There will also be an award for "contribution to sports by a non-participant.

Says an ABC announcement: The categories under consideration are:

Baseball, track and field, golf, tennis, motor racing, professional football, college football, professional basketball, college basketball, skiing, skating, hockey, boxing, horse racing, swimming and diving." Concludes the announcement: "In fields where women compete, both men and women winners will be announced. Winners will be elected in secret ballots by independent, impartial groups of distinguished people connected with each of the sports categories."

Many Specials Being Planned

All three networks are firming up productions by their news and special events departments in a selection of major offerings now through winter.

George Vicas, head of NBC's European Production Unit, is currently at work on a series of one-hour color documentaries titled "Of Men and Freedom." Vicas, who produced the award winning "The Kremlin," says the first subject scheduled for showing in the new series is "Their French Revolution." Working titles for other programs already in production are "The Middle Ages," "The Reformation," and "The Spanish Armada."

Described as typical of the 12 new one-hour specials in the "CBS Reports" series will be a documentary following 88-year old cellist — conductor Pablo Casals on a six-month itinerary. Locales for the Casals program range from Vermont to Puerto Rico. Social and scientific subjects will also be covered.

NOBEL PRIZE AWARDS

And ABC is planning to present a documentary of the actual presentation of the Nobel Prize Awards on December 12, just two days after the actual ceremonies in Stockholm's Concert Hall. The honors are to be bestowed personally by King Gustav VI of Sweden for physics, chemistry, medicine and literature. December 10 marks the 68th anniversary of the death of the Swedish inventor who instituted the awards, Alfred Nobel. Alistair Cooke will serve as host-narrator for the broadcast.

WARS REMEMBERED

Both World War I and World War II are being given in-depth studies on television this season.

NBC is planning a special commemoration of "The Battle of the Bulge," December 15, on the 20th anniversary of what has been called "The most significant, the most costly, the most necessary battle" ever fought by American soldiers. Among those narrating will be Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe.

GOLF CLASSIC

For a second year, the "CBS Golf Classic" will be broadcast. The date is Saturday, December 26, at 4 in the afternoon.

In a short three years Don Galloway has risen from a job as NBC pageboy to star of the "Tom, Dick and Mary" segment of the network's new tri-part series, "90 Bristol Court."

Teaching Guides Now Available

What started as "flyer" advertisements for educational programs have evolved into an esteemed teaching tool. It is the NBC Teacher's Guide. Mailings for the current guide to the opening of a new season of "Exploring" have already passed the quarter-of-a-million mark.

Also to be covered by this year's teaching guides (in addition to "Exploring") is the "Profiles in Courage" series based on the book by the late President Kennedy and the "NBC Children's Theater."

Notes Edward Stanley, the networks director of public affairs, "It is no longer unusual for children to be assigned to watch a television program as part of their homework, as television continues to become an accepted part of school work and a part of a whole new approach to teaching.

Teachers and administrators wishing to receive the Guide should address their requests, with grade level (and number of copies) to: NBC Teacher's Guide, Room 788 J, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Two Sports Stars Join TV Specials

Two more champions have signed up to do television commentary on their specialties! Olympic winner, Murray Rose, winner of four gold medals, joins the NBC reporting team in Tokyo for the Olympic Games; Dr. Cary Middlecoff, golfing dentist from Memphis, will be analyst for the December 26 CBS Golf Classic.

Rose's last Olympic participation was in 1960. He had hoped to take part again, but was unable to get time off to return to his native Australia last February for the preliminaries. He's now juggling a movie career with attendance at UCLA.

Ed Wynn Believes He Was First M.C.

When he did his recent "Hollywood Palace" stint, Ed Wynn reminisced about a 1913 appearance he made at the legendary Palace of vaudeville days. Says he thinks he was probably the first master of ceremonies in the country . . . and it all happened by accident. Electric signs at the side-front of the stage used to announce the acts. One night the lights were out "and I agreed to announce the acts because I was about the only one who could speak English." Most of the other acts, he clarifies, were imported from Europe.

"Today" viewers will be seeing more of Barbara Walters now that Maureen O'Sullivan has departed. Barbara, no stranger to the program's regular viewers, isn't to be known as the new "Today Girl" though. She's a working reporter and editor, and will just take on more on-the-air assignments. Her father is Lou Walters, bonds-man-creator of New York's "Latin Quarter" nightclub.

Another military authority is the earlier conflict in Europe, presently giving his attention to World War I. He is Brig. Gen. S. L. A. Marshall (USA-Ret.) who has been signed by CBS to write the script for the Nov. 17 study of "The Trenches." Among the works of Gen. Marshall, who is a noted historian and author, are the recent "American Heritage History of World War I" and the popular "Pork Chop Hill." Gen. Marshall served as an infantry officer in World War I.

Frustrated Actor Started Playhouse For Students

By BOB COPPER

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For some, the long road to Broadway begins at a small outdoor theater just outside Danville.

The Pioneer Playhouse, brainchild of a frustrated actor, produces only original plays, most of them written by yet unknown playwrights. About half the cast is made up of apprentice actors and actresses.

Eben Henson's acting career was just beginning to bud in 1948 when his father died and he was forced to return to his Danville home to look after some family property. "I just decided if I couldn't go to New York, I'd bring a little of New York down here," Henson says. So he founded the playhouse.

ORIGINAL PLAYS

For the first 12 years, standard plays, already shown on Broadway and in road shows, were presented. Three years ago, Henson and his company decided to limit productions to originals.

"We've produced 32 plays in three years and will have more this year. We do one a week for 10 weeks," he said.

He gets about 10 actors from New York, has another 10 apprentices in training each year. If he needs more "extras," he recruits local talent.

TUITION STUDENTS

About 25 high school graduates are accepted in the drama school at the playhouse each summer, at a tuition fee of $300 each. They study all facets of stagecraft and get a chance to see professionals in action.

"For some of them," Henson explains, "it gives them a real look at the theater and lets them know that it isn't the profession for them. For others, it is the first step toward an acting career."

Henson owns 18 acres of land on which the playhouse is situated. He rents parts of it to a garage, a restaurant, a grocery and a plastics manufacturer. He also has other property and his family owns a hotel in Danville.

With these incomes, plus talent as a scavenger and ability as a handyman, Henson can devote all his time to working on his theater—and talking about it.

"FOUND" MATERIALS

In a tour of the grounds, a visitor finds almost nothing that hasn't been donated, then improved upon by Henson. His box office is the railroad station that was used in the movie, "Raintree County."

"See those bricks in the floor of the theater," Henson says, for example, "They were tearing down a building in town and told me I could have them if I'd haul them away.

"The stage over there is made out of the roof of the same building," he adds with obvious pride.

Henson produces the plays, which are directed by Irving Strouse of New York, who donates his services. Irene Wicker of New York and Jane Lambert of Lexington, both experienced actresses, also contribute their time free.

GROUP SELECTION

"The four of us read all the plays submitted to us," Henson says, "and we select the ones we will do during a summer. We always start with the best one from the previous year."

When Henson and his group feel they have an outstanding play, they try to get critics from New York to come see it.

Playwrights whose plays are accepted receive transportation expenses and room and board for two weeks—one while the play is being rehearsed, one while it is being shown.
